You can hide it from the world. No one will know that you have such an ailment, but you cannot hide from yourself the results which are as certain as the laws of Nature. You will feel sluggish—your energy will be at low tide—and your mind will be lazy when you are afflicted with a costive condition. Another way of saying this is that your liver won't function properly. You will have had breathless, sick headaches, and life will be a burden.

HARDING HOPES REPORT WILL BE
WAR KNOCKOUTSenate Democrats Delay
Decision on Attitude.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
Washington, D. C., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—The four power treaty and the agreement on the reduction and limitation of navies will be submitted to the senate by President Harding, as the embodiment of a far reaching design to avert war in the Pacific and protect American interests in that region while at the same time decreasing taxes for armament.

Secretary of State Hughes hopes to be able to supplement these treaties with a third settling some of the principal questions pertaining to China and thereby minimizing the possibility of conflict on the Asiatic mainland.

The whole program, terminating the Anglo-Japanese alliance and guaranteeing the Philippines from attack, is so favorable to the United States that even factional opposition is groping for a promising point of assault.

Wilson Greatly Interested.
Woodrow Wilson, it became known today, has communicated his views concerning the four power Pacific pact to his old friends among Democratic senators, urging them to desist from further action or discussion of this kind until it can be considered in full relationship to other agreements expected to result from the armament conference.

The ex-president is keeping a watchful eye on the results of the conference. Senators who look to him for counsel and guidance in matters of this kind say that he has been hopeful of important achievements by the conference. Up to the present time, it is stated, he has not been able to determine whether the results of the conference can be regarded as successful from his point of view.

Await Word from Wilson.
He believes that the value of the four power pact depends largely upon the other work of the conference which remains to be announced. He is unwilling, his friends say, to commit himself for or against the pact until he can examine it carefully in the light of the agreement concerning China and the naval ratio.

In the main Democratic senators are respecting his suggestion. It is assumed that when the time is ripe Mr. Wilson will leave a carefully prepared statement of his views, after which the Democratic opposition will either collapse or gain considerable vigor.

Meantime efforts are afoot among the Democrats to organize a revolt against Senator Underwood's leadership. If a concerted Democratic fight is made against the treaty, it is pointed out, Senator Underwood, having already attached his signature to the document, will not be in a position to lead the opposition. There has been much muttering recently among party Democrats against Mr. Underwood's friendly and intimate relations with President Harding. A caucus may be called at an early date to discuss the leadership question.

Senator Lodge, Republican leader, took an hour off from his duties as a member of the American delegation and made a hurried survey of the situation in the senate. He expressed complete confidence that the treaty would be ratified by a wide margin.

Sees Country for It.
He was delighted with the reception the country has accorded the pact and pointed out that newspapers of all shades of opinion, almost without exception, have endorsed the treaty. He told his colleagues that the treaty would be submitted to the senate formally after the signing of the naval agreement.

It is the opinion of some senators supporting the treaty that the president should lose no time in sending the treaty to the senate. They believe that sentiment today strongly favors prompt ratification, but that delay may enable the opposition to develop strength in unexpected quarters.

The senate rules committee today took up the proposed new cloture rule under which it would be possible to shut off debate by a majority vote instead of a two-thirds vote as required at present. It was pointed out that the proposed new rule would be invaluable in case the opposition attempts a filibuster against the treaty. Senators Kellogg, Townsend, and Cummins were in favor of the rule.

AGREE ON NAVAL RATIO; DISCUSS
SHIPS TO SCRAPJapan and U. S. Await British Selection.

Great Britain, as both the Philippines and Pormosa might be defenseless against the British naval base and fortifications at Hongkong and Kowloon if positive assurances respecting British intentions should not be given.

It was indicated that a distinct treaty would be drafted to which the United States, Great Britain, and Japan would participate which would limit fortifications in certain regions of the Pacific and on certain islands or archipelagos to those now in existence. Hawaii and Japan proper would not be included.

To expedite consideration of the naval limitation program Secretary Hughes today brought about a recess of the committee on far eastern questions in order that the new subcommittee on limitation of naval armament might be able to function at once. It is probable, therefore, that as a result of the deliberations of the "big three" tonight, to be followed by another conference early tomorrow, the naval limitation committee would be called to meet tomorrow afternoon.

TOKIO ACCEPTS 5-5-3

TOKIO, Dec. 14.—[By the Associated Press.]—Acceptance of the ratio of the conference on limitation of armament was announced in a bulletin this morning ending weeks of speculation and argument in the press and conferences in political circles. The announcement created general satisfaction and gave welcome relief from the tension under which the various elements of the population had been laboring. Touching on the question of the island of Yap, the Kokumin Shimbun expresses satisfaction over the settlement of the question, expressing the

CHINA'S PLEA TO ANNUL TREATIES
STINGS JAPANESEQuick Objections Bring
Early Adjournment.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
Washington, D. C., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—China marched up the hill of the twenty-one demands today and marched right down again.

Her plea for abrogation of treaties growing out of the demands, which China signed in 1915 after Japan's ultimatum and by grace of which Japan today holds her grip on Shantung and Manchuria, was met by a quick objection from the Japanese delegates and an adjournment of the far eastern committee sine die.

It is true that the chairman, Mr. Hughes, had indicated before the meeting that an early adjournment was desirable in view of the work to be done on the naval ratio agreement and the outside Shantung conversations, but China's blacklist of treaties had been circulated among the delegates the night before. Dr. Wang was permitted to speak for fifteen minutes.

Dr. Koo said tonight that the matter would be pressed at the next session called by Mr. Hughes, but there is little chance that a resolution denouncing these treaties made between China and Japan while the rest of the world was engaged in Europe will ever receive serious consideration or even be drafted.

It would mean, among other things, that Japan would have to get out of Manchuria in another year or so, where she has invested $400,000,000. It would mean that England and France would have to denounce their own acts and that the Versailles treaty would be undermined.

There are other treaties, too, which would cause embarrassment to England, for there is a list of demands which England made upon China regarding Tibet.

America's Stand Defined.

Japan has been given to understand that the American attitude regarding these treaties is simply this: China's sovereignty and political integrity has always been recognized by America, as well as that of Japan. Therefore any treaties entered into between these two states must be regarded as legal under international law.

It is not possible for a third party, such as the United States, to attack them. It is a matter entirely for private discussion between the two nations. This is why Shantung was taken outside the conference. This is why Japan is feeling secure in her main objectives. There is no reason to think that Japan has been misled in taking this view.

The Shantung controversy appears to be adjusting slowly. It reached a point today, according to Dr. Koo, where the Japanese delegates had to refer the question to Tokio.

Object to Use of Word "Sell."
The Japanese object to the use of the word "sell" in connection with transferring the Shantung railroad to Chinese ownership and control, but the United States senators asking that a point below Japan's original stand of a half interest. They now, it is said, are willing to give up the road with certain reservations.

These relate to methods of payment, security for payment, and preferential rights of investment or holding power by the Japanese. The Chinese are aware that this financial "interest" may result in giving the Japanese virtual control of the management while the Chinese run the road in name only, but the settlement will be along these lines.

Italy Would Equalize France.

Senator Schanzer, the head of the Italian delegation, in talking of Italy's naval needs to newspaper correspondents today, said the Italians would go into the committee with two principles. "The first is," he said, "that we shall have the same ratio as France; the second, that the ratio be a low one, because we do not desire to build a large one."

Senator Schanzer alluded to the length of Italy's coasts, her dependence on sea communications for a large part of her food and her inclosed position in the Mediterranean.

Anthony Volkoff, Russian consul here, yesterday added his word to that of others in defense of Georges Baklanoff, baritone with the Chicago Grand Opera company, whom the immigration officials are prosecuting with a view of deportation as an undesirable alien.

Mr. Volkoff corroborated Baklanoff's assertions that Mme. Elvira Amazar, also an opera star, was not brought to the United States by the baritone as the government officials assert, but came here at the expense of the Boston Opera company to sing with them. The case against Baklanoff arose when Mme. Amazar made charges against the baritone which she later retracted.

'BOOKY' AND RAPS
U. S. SENATORS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—United States senators who have sought to interfere in the prosecution of a hotel bellboy charged with horse race bookmaking were scored here today by Judge Robert J. Hardison of the District of Columbia police court.

The judge in fining William Tallant, Willard hotel bellboy, $100 and sentencing him to ninety days in jail, said he had received numerous letters from United States senators asking that the charge against the youth be dropped.

"The United States senators," Judge Hardison stated, "have no right whatever to interfere in the trial of cases in this courthouse. I will not stand for it and they might as well know now as ever. This practice must stop and I will personally see that it does."

The court did not disclose the identity of the senators.

U. S. ARMY VITAL,
REILLY SAYS, TO
REPEL INVASIONSShould Build Up Forces,
He Warns America.

BY GEN. HENRY J. REILLY.
[Editor Army and Navy Journal.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—Yesterday and the day before it was shown that from a military point of view the abrogation of the British and Japanese alliance was a distinct advantage, in that it tends to eliminate the possibility of being attacked by both powers at the same time.

It was further shown that the limitation of armaments agreement gives Great Britain complete control of the Atlantic, and in time of war the power to invade the United States. It was pointed out that in so far as Japan is concerned a variation in the details of the limitation of armaments agreement could so augment her general naval strength as to give her control of the Pacific in time of war and thus the opportunity to invade the United States.

Invasion of U. S. Possible.

While it is common to scoff at the possibility of invading this country, it is true that a careful military examination of the facts show that such invasion is possible. Military history is full of successful overseas invasions. It is true that the gallant expeditions in the past, such as the Spanish invasions of Peru and Mexico, the numerous ones of the British and French to India, the British one which took Havana, another which took Manila, the unsuccessful one against Buenos Aires were all small in so far as modern numbers are concerned.

It must not be forgotten, however, that they were carried out in sailing vessels without refrigerating apparatus of any kind to provide fresh food and with such a limited knowledge of sanitation that great suffering from disease was inevitable.

Wellington's army was carried overseas by sailing vessels landed in Portugal and maintained in that country through the use of overseas communication with England.

Napoleon took an army to Egypt through the Mediterranean.

How They Whipped Russia.

In the Crimean war Great Britain, France, and Turkey transported armies by sea from their respective territories to the region of Sevastopol, where they fought the Russians.

In the Boer war Great Britain transported an enormous number of troops and animals from the four corners of the earth by sea to South Africa, where she successfully maintained them until that immense territory was conquered.

In the Russo-Japanese war the Japanese armies were not only transported by sea but in many cases were landed on the beach through the surf.

Our expedition against Mexico during the Mexican war was an overseas one, which was landed on the beach near Vera Cruz and took that city before starting its long successful march to Mexico City.

Modern Armies Easy.

The tremendous troop movements made by the British throughout the recent war and the movement of our army to France are convincing proofs of the reality and possibility of large invasions being carried out under modern conditions.

Invasion is particularly easy when troops can be landed in contiguous friendly territory, which can be used as a base. Great Britain could use Canada, and Japan could use Mexico, today and for many years to come.

Thus, the necessity to build up America's land forces is apparent. No effort should be spared to do so.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 14.—A report that kerosene containing a high percentage of gasoline was responsible for the explosion and fire yesterday in the home of Victor Weykin, just north of Detroit, that cost the lives of Weykin and seven children was being investigated by county authorities today.

The notice admits kerosene in all tanks of the company in the vicinity contains too much gasoline. The company also promised a speedy investigation to determine responsibility.

YANKEE STEAM
KNOCKS MOSCOW
STIFF WITH AWERelief Oasis of Efficiency in Chaos of Russia.

BY HELEN AUGUR.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

MOSCOW, Dec. 14.—The American relief administration has established an oasis of efficiency in the middle of the general demoralization of Russia.

The government handed over to the American relief a large stone house which had been the home of a petroleum magnate. Like every other house in Moscow it has steadily been going to seed for the last few years.

Hurricane of Energy.

The minute the "Ara," as the Russians call them, reached town there was a hurricane of energy. Temporary offices were set up in various parts of the building, which is built around a court, and has the dignity of a palace or an official building. The rubbish was removed from the cellars and court in motor trucks; telephones were installed in every room—the winter of Moscow; cots were set up for the workers, who swarmed in before permanent quarters were ready; a good meal was served to the secretarial workers in the middle of the day, and the big American motors and trucks roared over the cobbled streets past gaping pedestrians and slow old droshky drivers.

Painters, decorators, and plumbers who had almost forgotten their craft began to appear in hordes. Every inch of the enormous building is being scrubbed, painted, calcimined, or varnished as the case might be. The high ceilings were cleaned by men on scaffolds, and new floors were laid.

WORLD UNITED BY ARMS MEET, IS WELLS' VIEW

Conference First Step to Universal Peace.

BY H. G. WELLS.
ARTICLE XXVIII.

Beginning with the four plenary sessions of the Washington conference the registration of "results" in the Pacific, in disarmament, in China, has begun. They are good results, assembled on a basis of broad principles, that may sustain at last an organized permanent peace for the world.

There is one thing to be noted more than another about the world that has led up to this settlement in the adaptability, the intelligent and sympathetic understanding shown by Japan in these transactions. The Japanese seem to be the most flexible minded of peoples. They win my respect more and more. In the days of imperialist competition they stiffened to a conspicuous selfishness and a splendid fighting energy.

Japan Catches Peace Spirit.
Now that a new spirit of discussion, compromise, and the desire for brotherhood spreads about the world they catch the new note and they sound it with obvious sincerity and good will. No people has been under such lines and suspicious observation here as the Japanese. The idea of them as a people is a patriotic, patriotic, patriotic and treacherous, mysterious and mentally inaccessible has been largely dispelled.

I myself have tried to view over my mind and dismissed it, and multitudes of the commonplace men have gone through the same experience here. Our western world, I am convinced, can work with the Japanese and understand and trust them.

Looks Beyond Present Affairs.
It will be for other and abler pens to record the detailed working out of the results of this great conference, the new experiment in human reasonableness, as far as it affects Shantung and Tap and Hongkong and Port Arthur and so forth.

My time in Washington is drawing to a close, and I will confine myself now to a brief and broad and vaguer question in which I am more interested, and the question of what lies behind and beyond this most successful and hopeful beginning in open international cooperation.

Great and important as the conference is to the growth of a real and understandable project for the steady systematic development of an effective international world peace which has been going on in men's minds here and in the world generally for the last two months is a much greater thing.

People Were Hopeless.
It is a quite amazing mental growth, something very quiet and simple, and yet astonishing, like a clear crystallization out of a turbid solution. Before the conference gathered civilized people throughout the world were, I think, quite confused about how the peace of the world could ever be organized and rather hopeless about its being done.

Now I think there is a widespread and spreading unanimity that there is a way, a practicable way and a hopeful way, by successive conferences, by widening peace agreements, by the establishment of permanent joint commissions, by systematic education and the sedulous cultivation of confidence, along which humanity may struggle and which will struggle out of its present morasses and dangers towards the dawn of a new life.

See Economic Conference Next.
The next conferences that are indicated will gather in a mood of hopefulness and experience that will be the most precious legacy of the present conference. One that must follow must deal with the economic rehabilitation of Europe. Here it seems to me America, Britain, France, Germany, Italy, and Russia at least must meet. And soon.

On Military Disarmament.
And in addition to the world economic conference there is also need of another conference to face the still

Toyland C reus

THOUSANDS of children jammed the Coliseum yesterday afternoon when Santa Claus climbed down the chimney beside a sixty-foot brilliantly illuminated Christmas tree at the opening of the festival and toyland circus for the benefit of the Red, White, and Blue club.

The circus, with its clowns, trick horses, dogs, and a herd of elephants, entertained the children for more than two hours. Then Santa distributed free presents to all the children. In addition there were pink lemonade and tons of candy.

In the directors' box were Mrs. Frank Crawford Letts, vice chairman of the festival committee; Mrs. Kay Wood, Mrs. Edward R. Field, Miss Helen Gilbert, and Mrs. William R. Odell. The performances will continue every afternoon and evening until Dec. 23.

more difficult task of military disarmament and the reexamination of the factors in the Afro-European area. Personally I want to see America in that conference also because I do recognize that the freshness of mind, the deliberate diplomatic inexperience of America, is a factor of priceless value in these discussions. I would like to see that conference also held in an American atmosphere and before an American audience—if only for the sake of Europe.

And if America can be interested in Kwang Tung, I do not see why America should not also be interested in Silesia, or Cilicia, or Senegal, or the Congo, which are all very much nearer.

Belief in Parley to Grow.

The appetite for conferences, the belief in conferences, will grow with what it feeds upon. One sees these gatherings, with their necessary commissions, permanent secretariats and increasing world services, becoming a customary and necessary peace control of the earth.

And the peace control growing in this natural fashion will consist of ways and solely of the efficient and willing nations of the world. There will be no forced inclusions and no premature admission of incompetent and feeble peoples. The pedagogy that would give every sovereign power, however little or rotten, a vote, a nice salable vote, in the management of the world's affairs will play no part in this evolution. The association of nations will be a growing brotherhood of strong and healthy and understanding peoples, bound only by a bond of self-denial and mutual restraint towards the weaker folk of the earth.

The conclusion of this article will be published tomorrow.

THROST ADMITS KILLING PRETTY SCHOOL TEACHER

"Turned Him Down," Iowa Prisoner Says.

Waukon, Ia., Dec. 14.—Earl Throst, 26 years old, confessed at 12:30 this morning that he killed Miss Inga Magnuson, pretty 20-year-old school teacher, near Dorchester Monday because she had "turned him down flatly."

Throst, lying on a cot in the Allamakee county jail here, made his confession after he had been grilled four hours by County Attorney E. F. Pieper and deputy sheriffs. At 11:15 p. m. he signed his willingness to make a statement and asked that only the county attorney and W. L. Peck, county superintendent of schools, remain in the cell.

Were to Have Been Married.
"I had been going with her for quite a while," Throst said, "and then Otto Belier talked her out of it."

"Of course he made it as bad for me as he could," he added. "If this thing had not happened we were to have been married next Saturday—Dec. 17."

He then cited recent instances where in Miss Magnuson had indicated her ardor for him had cooled.

"I couldn't sleep Sunday night and spent most of the night walking around the vicinity of Dorchester," the prisoner continued. "I went to the schoolhouse late Monday afternoon. The children had all gone home and Inga was alone."

Quarrel in Schoolroom.
"We quarreled in the schoolroom. She went into the basement to fix the fire for the night. I followed and we quarreled again. I picked up a stick and struck her over the head. She turned around and I hit her two or three times. Then I left. She did not fight back."

Throst said he did not think Miss Magnuson was dead when he left her. The lid of a wash boiler was used in taking down the confession due to the absence of a table, and Throst, placing it on his knees, signed the statement on it.

Chicago Boys Are Stars and Co-Authors of Play
"Espanola," a musical comedy which will be presented by the Princeton University Triangle club at the Arvan Grotto Dec. 24, was written by J. Russell Porgan, son of David R. Porgan, and Louis Tilden, son of Edward Tilden. The co-authors are also stars in the play.

ORTHODOX JEWS GIVE $125,000 TO JOINT RELIEF

Among the larger contributions to the Chicago Jewish relief committee fund for war sufferers in eastern Europe is $125,000 contributed by the Orthodox committee. This sum represents contributions by hundreds of individuals who have given to collections in orthodox congregations during the year. The people's relief committee has turned in $60,000, collected from working people. Total contributions are $1,248,063.

Julius Rosenwald's offer to give a sum equal to one-seventh of the sum contributed collectively by all others brings the total of his pledge thus far to more than $150,000. It is probable his contribution will be close to $250,000.

Baron Rosen, Ex-Russian Envoy, in Taxicab Crash
New York, Dec. 14.—(Special.)—Baron Roman Rosen, 74, Russian delegate to the Portsmouth peace conference and former Russian ambassador to Washington, to Mexico, and to Tokyo, was knocked down by a taxicab in 8th avenue at 54th street tonight.

He suffered a fracture of the left leg and possible internal injuries. At his request he was removed to his hotel, The Netherlands, in an ambulance.

Burch Blushes in Court.
Burch hung his head and blushed when Mrs. Childs told how she had seen him carrying groceries and meat into the little flat.

BURCH'S ALIBI HINTED AT BY STATE WITNESS

Said He Was in Dry Cafe When Kennedy Died.

BY EDWARD DOHERTY.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 14.—(Special.)—Arthur Burch's long expected alibi in connection with the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, for which he is on trial, peeped shyly out of the evidence this afternoon.

The alibi first bloomed, it appeared, in a prison cell at Las Vegas, Nev., where Burch, spent Saturday and Sunday with Tom Savage and Howard Borts, alleged auto fire thieves. It was so hot the three played a hose on the cell room all night to try to keep it cool.

It was here, according to Savage and Borts, that Burch first mentioned his alibi. It was the only time, so far as any one knows, that he did mention it.

In a "Soft Drink Joint."
"I was out driving that night," he said, "all by myself. And at the time of the murder I was at a soft drink parlor." This statement was repeated by both Borts and Savage on the witness stand today.

Both men asked him if he had committed the murder, and they said he said he had not. Savage quotes him as also saying, "If I did kill him, it was no more than the ——— deserved."

Q.—Did he say anything about Mrs. Madelynn Obenchain? A.—Yes, he said he would not be surprised if he married her within a year or so.

The question was asked by Deputy District Attorney Asa Keyes. The answer was Savage's.

Q.—What was his appearance? A.—He seemed very nervous.

Said He Was Held for Murder.
Q.—Did Burch tell you what he was held for? A.—Yes, he said he was held for the Kennedy murder.

But corroborated most of the testimony given by Savage and added that Burch said he had once been arrested in Chicago on a Saturday night and held until Monday morning because he was unable to get bail.

Mrs. E. B. Whitlow, colored clairvoyant, was the first witness called today. She told how Madelynn came to her "for a reading" a few weeks before Kennedy was killed. Later she brought Kennedy. She had asked Mrs. Whitlow to speak favorably to him about marrying her.

Mrs. J. R. Childs, 812 Main street, Evanston, who formerly lived at 128 Main street, across the hall from an apartment rented by Madelynn Obenchain, told of seeing Burch there frequently.

Burch Blushes in Court.
Burch hung his head and blushed when Mrs. Childs told how she had seen him carrying groceries and meat into the little flat.

"We are not contending that Burch was a delivery boy," said Schenck, "if that's what you are trying to prove."

Burch hung his head even lower at that—Burch who laughs when accused of murder.

Madelynn and Burch were observed across from the Kennedy home between 12 and 1 o'clock on the afternoon of Aug. 5, the day of the murder, according to Juan Taliberto, the Kennedy houseboy, who also testified today. They stood looking up the driveway a short time and then left together, he said.

Says Kennedy Got Revolver.
Juan, who has been in the Kennedy employ ten years, said Belton came home about 8 o'clock that afternoon, went to his room, unlocked the phonograph cabinet, took out his revolver, and gave it to Juan to clean.

Juan gave way to a deputy sheriff, who told of being present when Dr. J. J. Finley extracted a thorn from Burch's knee, but was not permitted to tell much about it. Dr. Finley will be put on the stand tomorrow morning to tell about the incident of the thorn. The prosecution contends Burch "picked up" the thorn in Beverly Glen, possibly as he knelt to shoot his rival Kennedy.

Judge Reeve, before adjourning court announced that he had received a number of threatening anonymous communications, and instructed the jurors that if they had any such letters to turn them over to him. Attorneys for defense and prosecution declared they also were receiving from five to ten letters a day without signatures.

Haste to See Sweetheart Leads to Cyclist's Death

William Thiele, son of Henry Thiele, a farmer living in Sheridan road between Zion City and Waukegan, was instantly killed last night when he crashed at fifty miles an hour into a wagon load of lumber while on a motorcycle. Thiele was hurrying on his way to visit his sweetheart.

LAST PAYMENTS ON INCOME TAX ARE DUE TODAY

This is the last day to pay the last installment upon the 1920 income tax. Persons who fail to send in their checks, postal orders, or cash to John C. Cannon, collector of internal revenue, will be obliged to pay the penalties provided by law.

Changes that have been made in the income tax law and which will effect the returns will be made shortly after the first of the year. Principal among these changes is the one that increases allowance to married persons and the heads of families. The personal exemption for heads of families is increased from $2,000 to $2,500. The exemption allowed for each dependent is increased from $200 to $400.

The increase in the personal exemption is only allowed on incomes of less than $5,000. The personal exemption of single persons remains unchanged at $1,000.

The surtax rates are unchanged for the present calendar year.

The income tax on corporations for the calendar year 1922 is increased from 10 to 12½ per cent. The taxes on ice cream, soft drinks, etc., remain in force until the end of the calendar year.

CALL CHILE NOTE TO PERU MOVE TO ANNEX PROVINCE

U. S. Arbitration May Be Asked by Lima.

BULLETIN.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 14.—Rumors throughout South America of fighting between Chile and Peru and the beginning of open warfare refer to a skirmish which I reported on Dec. 12 and are much exaggerated.

BY J. W. WHITE.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
Copyright, 1921. By The Chicago Tribune.

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 14.—Chile's invitation to Peru to take part in a plebiscite in Tacna-Arica is looked on here as a grandstand play in South American politics. Neither the Chilean government officials nor newspapers expect Peru to accept the invitation. The government is giving carefully prepared statements to the newspapers declaring that the invitation to participate in the plebiscite is the first step in President Alessandri's program, and if Peru refuses to accept the United States and South Americans must recognize Chile's only alternative is to annex Tacna-Arica. The Chilean officials evidently have been prepared for foreign consumption.

If Chile really had desired to negotiate with Peru, it would have followed the usual diplomatic procedure and sent the invitation through a friendly nation instead of telegraphing it direct to the Peruvian foreign office.

Peru Denies Frontier Clash.

It is false that there has been a clash between Peruvian and Chilean troops on the frontier. It is false that Chilean imports have been prohibited. It is false that Chileans have been expelled from Peruvian territory. It is false that a cablegram has been received from the government of Chile proposing a plebiscite to settle the Tacna-Arica problem, but the Peruvian foreign office considers Chile's action irregular and unusual in view of the fact that there are no countries. Despite the Peruvian denial of a skirmish, such an action has been confirmed from several points in Bolivia and Chile.

Suggests U. S. Arbitration.

LIMA, Peru, Dec. 14.—(By the Associated Press.)—Arbitration by the United States of the difficulties between Peru and Chile over the provinces of Tacna and Arica was suggested editorially today by La Prensa, the Peruvian government organ. The newspaper characterizes the note of the Chilean government, inviting Peru to hold a plebiscite in these provinces in accordance with the terms of the 1893 treaty of Ancon, as "a gross insult following the deportation of Peruvians from the captured provinces."

NEW WAR FIELDS

1—Troops of Peru and Chile are reported to have clashed on the Chilean side of the boundary. This has been denied by both governments.

2—Chile has invited Peru to a plebiscite in Tacna-Arica. If the latter will not participate Chile hints she will annex the provinces. Their status has hitherto been that of Peruvian territory held by Chile pending an indemnity payment.

3—Peru looks coldly on Chile's offer, calls it irregular, and offers to arbitrate with the United States as mediator.

LADY BARBER AND CANARIES FIGURE IN DIVORCE SUIT

Lady barber, canaries, and relatives-in-law were brought into the evidence before Judge G. Fred Rush by litigants in the separate maintenance proceedings brought by Mrs. Joseph Rice, 552 Oakwood boulevard, against her husband, Edward C. Rice, wealthy president of the Marquette Lithographing company, yesterday. Mrs. Rice accused her husband of being too friendly with Mable Zimmer Jones, a barber, and told of a telephone message in which Miss Jones is alleged to have said she was lonesome for her "daddy."

The canary bird episode was brought out on cross examination of Mrs. Rice by Charles E. Erbstein, counsel for Mr. Rice. On Nov. 18 Mrs. Rice's apartment was raided by her husband and several detectives. Mrs. Rice and Frank Gunn, a brother of Mrs. Rice's sister-in-law, were found in the apartment. Mrs. Rice declared articles found in a bedroom by detectives were things she hung around canaries' cages at night.

FEDERAL CHURCH COUNCIL OPENS 3 DAY MEETING

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.
Communications from President Harding, Arthur J. Balfour, head of the British delegation at the disarmament conference, and Frank A. Vandenberg, former president of the National city bank of New York, were read at the meeting of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, which began a three days' session yesterday in the New First Congregational church, Ashland and Washington boulevards. The federal council represents thirty denominations.

Message of President.
President Harding's message was: "The annual meeting of the Federal council impresses me as an occasion of special significance. Let me express my deep interest in its work and the hope that its future accomplishments may meet the expectations of a people newly made conscious of the higher achievements through reverence for God."

"I regret the necessity that keeps me in Washington," said Mr. Balfour, who had planned to address the council "because I hold the work of the disarmament conference intimately bound up with the work of the churches. It is not that I desire to see the churches take any corporate share in current political controversy; for such intervention has often injured religion, but barely advantaged politics. The churches have a higher mission for it is their supreme duty to raise the ideals of the community which they serve and create the atmosphere in which these ideals can flourish."

Need Help of Church.
"It would be vain for statesmen to diminish armaments and contrive treaties of conciliation in a world determined to fight. More is required and that 'more' is what the churches must help to provide."

Record in Europe.
Numerous American visitors to Berlin, who complain of being approached by degenerates on Unter den Linden at the corner of Friedrichstrasse, are not surprised to learn that as a result of the war the percentage of degenerates in Berlin exceeds all the rest of Germany and probably all the capitals of Europe.

Ten Murders a Month.
The police announce that, in addition to ten murders monthly in Berlin, there have been 3,500 burglaries this year, 10,000 thefts, 835 suicides, 145 plundering raids, 2,000 violations of moral laws, and 330 illegal demonstrations.

Thieves have stolen $1,000,000 worth of property from Berlin hotels this year. Among the holiday victims was William Joller, who gave his address as 1906 North Park avenue, Chicago. When a gun was drawn on him, Mr. Joller, who is connected with the American embassy, calmly seized the barrel and threw the gun into a park, bloodying his own hand but blackening his assailant's eye.

by degenerates on Unter den Linden at the corner of Friedrichstrasse, are not surprised to learn that as a result of the war the percentage of degenerates in Berlin exceeds all the rest of Germany and probably all the capitals of Europe.

According to the greatest expert on persons of this kind, Dr. Hirschfeld, who treated 21,000 cases personally before the war, there were probably 400,000 in Germany. Blaming the war, and especially imprisonments and internments, Dr. Hirschfeld states that the number is now 2,000,000.

GAS COMPANY TO PAY DIVIDENDS, INSULL'S TIDINGS

Better Condition Expected to Bring Rate Cut.

The Peoples Gas Light and Coke company "is on a dividend paying basis" and has earned a dividend this year, according to its president, Samuel Insull. He was under cross examination of Donald R. Richberg, attorney for the city, before the Illinois commerce commission yesterday. The figures submitted show the company is now earning—net for the entire year—at the rate of 7.9 per cent. These are good tidings to more than 7,000 investors in the company, which has not paid a dividend since late in 1917, and whose stock went from $128 a share in 1914 to $28 in August, 1920.

Now, what are the more than 700,000 gas users of the company going to get? They were paying a primary rate of 70 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of gas before the war. It's now $1.15. They will get some reduction, the amount not yet determined.

Pre-War Rate Not Expected. While the commerce commission ordered the surface lines' fare cut from 1 to 5 cents—the pre-war charge—it is considered reasonably certain the commission will not order a 70 cent gas rate—the pre-war charge. It is rumored the commission now desires to make a reduction which will not be taken into court, but one which will actually give the gas users lower gas bills. Richberg also wants a cut which can be sustained.

Mr. Insull admitted the gas company is "in very much better shape" than a year ago. He said that its assets payable of $1,395,210 had been paid, that about $2,750,000 of its $4,400,000 of accounts outstanding at the beginning of the year have been paid, and that its cash on hand has gone up $1,150,000.

Gains in Last Few Months. This is quite different from representations to the commission in the company's answer of Sept. 28 last, when it was called upon to show cause why its rates should not be reduced. Mr. Richberg called attention of Mr. Insull to that answer, which said that since the last quarter of 1917 "no dividends have been earned or paid" and to another statement that "no dividends have been earned or paid and the company is not now on a dividend paying basis."

"How do you explain that?" asked Mr. Richberg. "It has only been in the last three or four months that we have really gotten on a dividend paying basis," replied Mr. Insull.

Clashes with Lawyer. The day's hearing ended in a bitter clash between Mr. Richberg and Mr. Insull. The lawyer read a newspaper article quoting Mr. Insull as saying to the American Gas association in effect that public utilities should bear their losses due to the war and look to the future.

"How does that square with your claim here that the lost dividends of the gas stockholders should be re-compensated?" asked Richberg.

"That was an unfair article intended to create prejudice against me," replied the gas president. "The question is intended to reflect upon my patriotism."

Richberg became angry and shot this question: "Do you think that when the sons of the fathers and mothers were conscripted from their homes and incomes and returned crippled and maimed, that investors should not be compelled to bear their share?"

"That's hitting below the belt," cried Insull, flushed and jumping up. "Certainly I believe that property should be conscripted to the point of confiscation in order to protect the country. Life comes before property. During the war I was not of military age, but I tried hard to do my part. All I have said here is that all property be conscripted alike. Why confiscate the property of the utility during the war and not other property to the same extent?"

"I have not questioned the patriotism of Mr. Insull," said Richberg. "No one questions it. Forget it. That is the best for all concerned."

Today the commission starts its investigation of telephone rates. The gas company resumes Friday morning.

MAROONED IN THE AIR

George Sutton, stevedore, climbed at 10 o'clock yesterday morning to the top of the American Bridge company's big twin smokestacks at 40th street and Princeton avenue. Just as he reached the top and seated himself on a board between the stacks, he dropped the block and tackle with which he was to descend, and as a result found himself imprisoned 175 feet in the air.

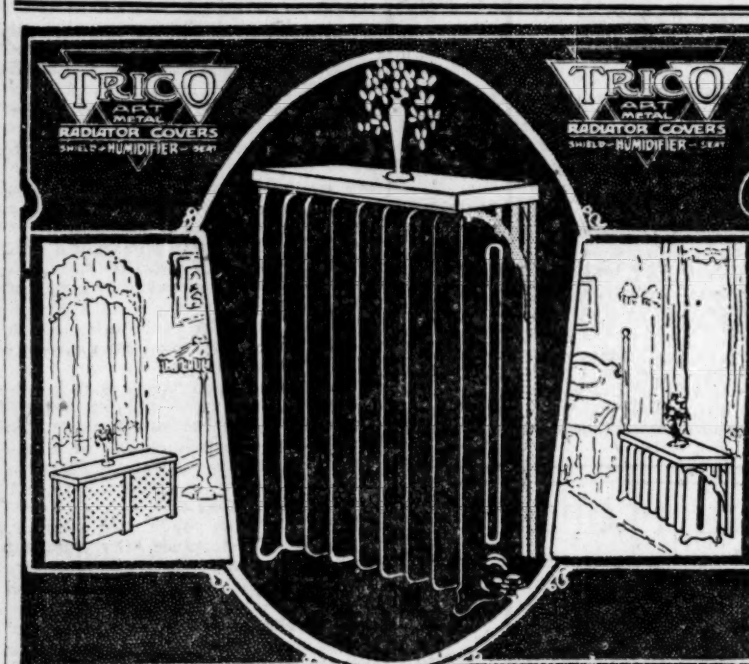

Workers noted his predicament. They called the police, who declared they didn't know how to get Sutton down. Then the fire department was called. Lieut. James O'Neill of truck 11, and Lieut. Frank O'Connor of squad 3, responded with their men. They, too, failed, their ladders being much too short.

"Call the lifesavers and let 'em shoot the rope up to him," the lifesavers tried it for hours.

Then an engineer for the bridge company went inside of one of the big stacks, fastened a rope to the end of a long pole and pushed the pole upwards along the side. Then he nailed another pole to the first and pushed upward. Pole after pole went in and upward; finally the top came out through the stack. Sutton reached it, fastened the rope to the board on which he had been sitting, and slid down like a sailor.

'BRAINSTORM' TO BE WOMAN'S PLEA IN N. Y. SLAYING

New York, Dec. 14.—[Special.]—

"Compulsive insanity" will be the defense of Mrs. Lillian S. Raizen, bride of a wealthy Brooklyn toy manufacturer and confessed slayer of Dr. Abraham L. Glickstein. It was indicated tonight, following her indictment for first degree murder and her appearance, after a nervous collapse, before Judge Martin in Kings County court to hear the grand jury's indictment read and to be arraigned on the murder charge.

Dr. Edward E. Hicks, Brooklyn alienist, called in by Mrs. Raizen's attorneys, declared, following an examination, that the woman suffered from "compulsive insanity," or "brainstorm," when she shot Dr. Glickstein, who, she alleges, kept her under his influence even after her marriage to Charles Raizen.

It is believed a commission will be appointed by Judge Martin to examine into the sanity of the prisoner, who was committed to Raymond Street jail following her arraignment.

Early in the day District Attorney Lewis ceased questioning Mrs. Raizen when she became hysterical, cried, and appeared in almost complete collapse. Stimulants were administered before she could face the ordeal of appearance in court.

When, in the reading of the indictment, the words "you are indicted for murder in the first degree" were pronounced, Mrs. Raizen fainted. Her counsel entered a plea of not guilty. She was revived, but had to be half-carried from the courtroom.

Ad Mrs. Raizen was being taken up the steps of the Clymer Street station this morning two brothers of the dead physician broke through the police lines and ran up to her. Elias Glickstein is alleged to have struck her in the jaw, almost falling her.

When asked why he had assaulted the accused woman, Glickstein told detectives: "It was not as much for love of my dead brother as for my mother's sake."

Dr. Glickstein's mother fell dead at the bier of her son Monday, delaying his funeral service.

UNCLE SAM AS SHYLOCK.

Mr. Wells seems to us unduly concerned lest Uncle Sam play Shylock to England's threadbare Antonio. He assures America that England will pay to the last drop if we insist; but he points with feeling to that heartless exaction must mean to the former comrades of our soldiers.

We have been impressed before by Mr. Wells' anxiety lest America should refuse the dictates of humanity and good will, and we have wondered what in our history has stimulated Mr. Wells' alarm. It is true that America has always paid her debts from the time when she was an impoverished, war-starved, and weak little embryo nation while her debtors were powerful and plethoric. We do not recall that America then asked remission of payment, although all our means were needed for the upbuilding of our feeble structure. We do not recall that a remission was tendered us in those days, and coming down to the present we see very little evidence in Europe of any disposition to relax claims or forego advantages, though it seems to us that both humanity and common sense are crying out for such relaxation. The peace of Versailles and of St. Germain are not precisely examples to stir in us a passion of self-abnegation. If America imitates them now it will realize the worst of Mr. Wells' fears, but why fear it when America is the only victor in the late war which refused loot and failed to leave the Paris conference with pockets full of plunder?

We can account for Mr. Wells' disquiet in view of these notorious facts only on the theory that he voices the guilty conscience of Europe, which naturally admires our policy in terms of its own ruthlessness.

We hope and believe that these forebodings will be dissipated in due time, but not by a foolish surrender of legitimate claims or of any advantages we may gain for the common benefit of the world by making proper use of them. It would be very pleasant, doubtless, for the hard pressed political governments, our debtors, if we should suddenly without reservation cancel their debts to us. But we shall be very stupid if we indulge in any such gesture of futile magnanimity. There should be no remission on terms which will permit European governments to go on playing the destructive game of domestic politics and imperial adventure.

The problem of accommodation of the war debts is complex because it is not only financial and economic but political. America has legitimate and important interests to conserve and would be very foolish to throw away the cards she holds. Neither repudiation nor remission of debts is a step to be justified on any grounds whatever unless there can be accomplished thereby a substantial betterment in the policies and programs of our creditors. If America should now cancel the debts owed her there is not the slightest shadow of reason to hope that Europe would reform its policies. But America may be able to make good use of its claims to the common good.

All this should be made the subject of an economic and financial conference, and America should hold her cards meantime and play them rigorously when the conference is called.

PROFITABLE BIGOTRY.

The Rev. Harry W. Bowditch, secretary of the Anti-Saloon league, will be used to bring pressure on legislatures and congress to obtain suppression of amusements, games, travel, distribution of newspapers, etc., on Sunday.

The Anti-Saloon league operated with a large fund, employing many superintendents, secretaries, and lobbyists at good salaries. It was natural that the officials would prefer to carry on their activities rather than to return to $300 rural pastorates, where the duties of a minister involve hard work meagerly rewarded in this world's goods.

The arduous, self-sacrificing work of a minister caring for the spiritual, social, and in many instances physical needs of a congregation is outside of remunerative employment. The zealous reformer backed by a large organization and much money may have remunerative employment, and in his effort to impose his will upon communities he enjoys a sense of power.

Reformers do not like to give these opportunities up. They enjoy the exercise of a tyranny which can be so handsomely decorated with moral purposes. So long as there is so much enjoyment in the task they do not care whether their moralistic rule violates the ground principles of liberty. What is perilous to a free and sound social order is profitable to the extremists who advocate it, and they are moved by considerations arising out of bigotry and egotism.

MAKE IT OUR MERCHANT MARINE.

Albert D. Lasker, chairman of the United States shipping board, tells the Milwaukee chamber of commerce that the inland cities, villages, and farms will determine the future of America on the sea. Coast dwellers, he says, are naturally for the development of a merchant marine, while the inland resident, removed from direct contact with ships, is disinclined, if not opposed to improving American shipping. He sees a grave danger in the slump of shipbuilding interest which will result from a ten years' naval holiday, which will destroy our facilities and our expert builders, and leave us helpless in the face of future needs unless the inland supports the merchant marine. Very likely that is true, in the main. But no glittering generalities, no broad warning or appeal such as uttered by Mr. Lasker will correct the situation. There is, however, a simple method of arousing the interest of inland America in our merchant marine. It is simply the development of the St. Lawrence seaway.

That will bring ocean ships to inland cities. It will give us the "natural" inclination toward support of merchant shipping which Mr. Lasker now finds only on the coasts. It will change the whole inland psychology toward ocean shipping. We will then favor it and support it. We have not the vision and imagination to support the merchant marine at a loss now for the benefit of coast ports or the vague advantage of the nation at some indefinite future date. But we will support it if it comes to our cities, carries our products to market at lower rates, and puts money in our pockets and prosperity in our middle west.

If Mr. Lasker truly wants our support for the merchant marine he will help to make it our merchant marine by supporting the seaway project before congress. If it goes through he will get the inland support he desires and the entire nation will get a profit.

JUDGE SCANLAN IS RIGHT.

Judge Scanlan's remarks on the apathy of this community as to crime are unappreciated well supported by facts. It is no mere freak of chance that three out of five persons interviewed by the Inquiring Reporter showed an emphatic sympathy with Tommy O'Connor. It was not an unheard-of lapse of justice when a jury set free a policeman who killed a citizen for trying to protect a woman from maltreatment. These illustrate a general sentiment of lawlessness which Judge Scanlan does not exaggerate. The murder of George, the escape of O'Connor, the failure of justice even in jury trials such as the first trial of Wanderer, the evasion of punishment by notorious killers, the high rate of crimes of violence persisting year in and year out, all this indicates a public indifference and a persistent demoralization of law enforcing agencies which call for something like a civic revolution.

Very broad treatment of such a condition is necessary, but Judge Scanlan has pointed out one line of attack which should be taken without further procrastination. He declares that delay in punishment is largely responsible for our condition, and he recommends an increase of judges in the criminal branch. His contention is, of course, true. It is essential to respect for law that justice should be swift. It is certain that law will not be respected, nor life nor property, if justice is slow.

When justice is tardy, as it is with us, three things follow: First, the organized machinery of law evasion has full time to operate. We mean by this that there exists a system of influencing agencies and processes of the law, to protect criminals in exchange for political services or other profits of various kinds. Gang politics, vice, and professional crime have created this system, which has permitted ball jumping with impunity, intimidation and spiriting away of witnesses, jail escapes, miscarriages of justice at trials, and interminable delays and complications in review and execution of sentences.

Second, delay permits the public to forget the circumstances of the crime, with the result that there is no protest when justice finally breaks down. The public opinion essential to the energetic functioning of public agencies is not stimulated. The public conscience, which is the fundamental organ of efficient government, is not roused. The machinery of obstruction and perversion works without check.

Third, since delay multiplies the chances of escape from justice, and punishment comes late if at all, criminals and law breakers are not impressed with the hazard of lawlessness. All are gamblers and they are being taught in this country that the odds are good.

Decent citizenship need not submit to such a state of affairs, but it cannot cure them by occasional revolts at the polls. It must not only wake up but keep awake. Concretely, Judge Scanlan's recommendation should, we think, be acted upon at once by the bench of judges. But we think the legal profession, through its organizations, should formulate amendments of our system of criminal practice, to eliminate improper delays and evasions, and safeguard from abuse such guarantees of the rights of the individual as are now being perverted to the defeat of expeditious justice. It was never intended, for example, that the writ of habeas corpus should be a means of juggling justice, as it is under our judicial administration. The ball jumping evil seems to have been reduced under Mr. Crowe, but his reform should be fixed in some way. There should be legislation to permit proper retention and protection of essential witnesses in serious crimes.

In short, we hope the bar and bench will undertake a careful study of the defects in our present administration of criminal law, and demand such legislation as may be necessary to speed up and avoid evasions. Some changes may be accomplished without new legislation by rules of court, but a review of the situation is sorely needed.

Editorial of the Day

WHEN AGRICULTURE VOTES.

[Quincy Whip-Journal.]

Only since the votes of agricultural districts in congress have come together in a "blo" have political students begun to show alarm. How far will the practice go and will there be twenty or thirty similar confederations in the future?

This agricultural "blo" as it is called, is simply getting together the votes of farming communities and it has caused alarm because of its numbers. There are no representatives of the press in Washington who recall when "the interests" had only to say what they wanted to have congress vote that way and if that was not a "blo" it was certainly an understanding. The nation has outgrown all that and congressmen and senators now have a vastly different understanding of the people's rights and how they are to be voted away.

All this has come in the last two decades. Railroad interests that now have a well-founded grievance are likely to be roughly treated, but it is not more than thirty years ago that the foe of a legislative leader was all that was required to put a bill through the hopper in Washington. The pawns in the game knew their master's crib and responded to the call of this leader.

Probably the difference between our own times and those are the understanding that people have of class rights and privileges. Back of this agricultural "blo" are thousands of farm bureau organizations who can be counted to think intelligently and make sure of what they want and of the justice of things before asking congress to pass it.

They have the power no doubt. Will they use it wisely?

SONG OF POETS NEGLECTED.

Down the darkness valley,
Out across the plain,
Come the walls of poets
Crying out in pain—

Sang a song of poets—

The foreman of the jury in how to catch fish through the ice just asked for new instructions and we tendered the testimony of E. C. THE course of human events will have to worry along without yrs. truly until Jan. 1. When the clock in the wretched steeps strikes II this a. m. he will be parked in the observation car (no extra fare) of a C. & M. & S. P. train with a yard and a half of ticket good to the shore of the well discussed Pacific ocean. He will renew friendships in the diggings rendered famous by Joaquin Miller. Out where the smile dwells a little longer—

Out where the sun shines a little brighter,
Where the snows that fall are a trifle whiter,
Where the bonds of home are a use bit tighter—
That's where the west begins.

Out where the sky skies are a trifle bluer,
Where friendship's ties are a little truer—
That's where the west begins.

Out where a fresher breeze is blowing,
Where there's laughter in every streamlet flowing,
Where there's more of reaping and less of sowing—

THE most refreshing thought is that the Burch case will probably be assigned to the cannery ere we return. That is, if the jury doesn't arbuckle. ### THIS IS FOR MOTHERS.

SUGGESTIONS on the prevention of coughing cough:

1. Keep every child under 3 years of age from other children as much as possible.

2. When whooping cough is in the community keep the children at home.

3. Allow no fondling of the babies by others. A kiss may be a death blow.

4. In the neighborhood the baby use nipples, cups, and spoons that no other person has recently used.

5. Make your baby a fresh air and a clean food baby.

6. Do not stuff your baby.

7. If your health department furnishes whooping cough vaccine, use it if the disease is around.

The foregoing suggestions are from Dr. Mitchell of North Carolina. They are based on the teaching that babies especially should be shielded from whooping cough.

Let us sum it up this way: The baby must not be allowed to come near any person with whooping cough. Of every eight babies under 1 year old with whooping cough, one can be expected to die.

Between 1 and 2 years of age the death expectancy is one in ten; between 2 and 3 years of age, one in thirty; 3 and 4 years of age, one in fifty; 4 and 5 years of age, one in 200.

Therefore, protect the babies, if you must fall down in protecting the older children.

Suggestions for diagnosis of whooping cough:

If a child has a cough which grows worse, comes in spells, has red and watery eyes, and vomits, suspect whooping cough.

Do not wait for a whoop, for that is a late sign and may not come until every child in the family, the school, or the neighborhood has been infected.

Above all, keep the babies away from the children who are even remotely suspected of having whooping cough.

Since the whoop is so late in developing, or may not develop at all, since the disease is so contagious in the early stages and the incubation period is so long—twenty-one days—cases should be reported on suspicion rather than on confirmed diagnosis, and quarantine should start from the "suspicion" period.

There are those who hold that whooping cough is not contagious after whooping has started. It is certain that it ceases to be contagious weeks before whooping stops.

Dr. Mitchell's suggestions for treatment are:

1. Follow the doctor's advice.

BY GENERAL OBSERVANCE.

Milford, Ia., Dec. 10.—[Friend of the People.]—Will you please publish the date and by what act of congress Nov. 11 was made a national legal holiday?

O. C. H.

In the United States there is no such thing as a national legal holiday. Congress has never set aside any day to be observed as a national legal holiday, applying to the United States. Congress does, however, set aside Labor day to be observed in the District of Columbia.

Sundays as July 4, Christmas, New Year's day, Thanksgiving, etc., are such because of usage.

LOANS FOR HOMES.

Chicago, Dec. 11.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—Has the United States or the state of Illinois made any provision to aid ex-soldiers in obtaining homes?

S. M. P.

The United States has made no such provision, nor has the state of Illinois. Several of the states have appropriated funds for loans for homes, but it can be used only by the men from those states.

HOW DID YOU DO IT?

Chicago, Dec. 7.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—I wish to revoke the power of attorney granted in another state, on which no time limit is set. Is it necessary to have a notary or witness? The state is Wyoming. O. Y.

We would advise executing the revocation with the same formalities as those attending the execution of the power.

RENTS HIS FLAT.

Chicago, Dec. 11.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Has a husband the legal right to rent with all the furnishings the house held in his name without consulting his wife? The wife was absent for two months. S. A. R.

Yes, on the bare facts stated.

DANGERS OF CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS.

Pascagoula, Miss., Dec. 7.—I have just read quoted in the Memphis Commercial Appeal a quotation from the remarks of Prof. Kinley of the University of Illinois on state rights, wherein he truly says the "onward march of federal power is breaking down our state autonomy and clearly present the most stupendous issue that confronts the American people today. Shortly after the decision of the United States Supreme court in Rhode Island vs. the United States, in Law Notes (published at Northport, L. I., N. Y.), I stated that this decision had made it clear that the constitution of the United States did not guarantee civil and religious liberty and that the tenth amendment was a meaningless string of words, and that it had made a breach in the walls of the constitution which the forces of radicalism would soon recognize and through which they would rush. For by that decision it was made possible for any religious or political organization that could control by a majority of one vote in each of one-third of the state legislatures and two-thirds of congress on a joint ballot could write anything they saw fit into the organic law and the public must accept it or fight. For instance, the Buddhist could prohibit the eating of meat; the Anabaptist the celebration of the mass or infant baptism; or some sectarians could prohibit baptism by immersion, etc. That my prediction has been verified is shown by the many reform "issues" that are assailing congress. The "Lord's Day alliance" wants to prohibit trading on Sunday, the publication of Sunday newspapers, etc., and even has gone so far as to propose a national censorship of the news (?) that goes into the papers on other days; the censorship will, of course, be under the domination of an hierarchy. Admitting, for the sake of argument, that newspapers and moving pictures need a censorship, would that justify placing this

$106,000 SPENT BY MRS. ROWE IN 'USELESS' JOB

Following a discovery yesterday that Mrs. Louise Osborne Rowe, Mayor Thompson's commissioner of public welfare, has spent $106,000 of the taxpayers' money in the last six years, an ordinance repealing the law which created her position was drawn up and is ready for action by the city council.

The discovery of Mrs. Rowe's $106,000 expenditures was almost as great a shock to the aldermen as was the discovery not long ago that her tax-deductible bills, paid by the city on order of City Controller Harding, another appointee of Mayor Thompson, amounted to $1,922 in 1920.

Calls Job Useless.
"The council has failed three times to get rid of Mrs. Rowe, who, with her department, is a useless burden on the taxpayers," Ald. Guy Guernsey, who, with Ald. Max Adamowski, is attempting to overcome Mrs. Rowe's ability to stick on the city pay roll, declared yesterday.

"I defy any one to show where the department which has cost $106,000 has given Chicago citizens $100 worth of service. The department's work, even if performed, would be a duplication of work performed by the state and the county. Mrs. Rowe's department is useless and her $5,000 job is a sinecure."

Championed by Anderson.
Louis B. Anderson, colored alderman from the Second ward and Mayor Thompson's council floor leader, announced immediately that he will champion Mrs. Rowe, both before the finance committee, where the Guernsey-Adamowski ordinance will be up for debate next week, and also before the city council.

Mrs. Rowe lives in the Chase apartments, 3200 Sheridan road, where Mayor Thompson makes his home. In 1914 she was charged by Mrs. Page Walter Eaton, then her assistant, with being the author of the famous phrase, "Maizie says you've got to come across."

AFTER HER JOB

(Moffett Photo.)
MRS. LOUISE OSBORNE ROWE.

"Maizie says you've got to come across." The Maizie referred to was Mayor Thompson's wife.

Not Bothered by Rules.
The city council is supposed to decide, in passing the city budget, what administrative officers may spend. But this rule doesn't apply to Mrs. Rowe. For two years, 1917 and 1918, the council made no appropriation for the mayor's friend.

This action did not faze Mrs. Rowe. Under a ruling by Corporation Counsel Ettelson she learned she could continue to draw her pay by filing suit against the city and taking judgment. Mr. Ettelson's assistants were assigned to defend the city. Mrs. Rowe won in every case.

TYPIST TO CLEAR UP 'MYSTERY' OF SMALL RECORD

BY PARKE BROWN.

All the horrible details of the mysterious green ink in the records of the board of supervisors of Sangamon county probably will be bared to the public soon after argument is resumed this morning in the case against Gov. Len Small before Judge Claire C. Edwards at Washington.

Last week the defense made much of a coup showing that the date of "Sept. 16, 1920" had been written in the record of the board with a typewriter ribbon of a color different from that of the ribbon used in typing the remainder of the record. Friends of Gov. Small whispered in long distance tones that this unexplained ink alone proved all they had charged concerning the "conspiracy" against the governor in Sangamon county.

State Has Filing Today.
The state this morning is due to make its reply to arguments of the attorneys for the defense that Gov. Small cannot be brought to trial on any of the three indictments voted against him by the Sangamon county grand jury last July.

They attach absolutely no legal importance to the green ink date, but because of the possible psychological effect of this "disclosure" it is reported they will prove to the court by sworn testimony exactly how this "mystery" arose.

This will be done, it is said, by the testimony of a young woman stenographer employed in the office of Charles Byers, county clerk of Sangamon county and ex-officio secretary of the board of supervisors. Her statement will be that after the record of the meeting of Sept. 14, 1920, had been written up she discovered that it showed an adjournment until "Thursday" without any indication of the date.

Stenographer Changes Ribbon.
Thereupon she replaced the typewritten sheet in her typewriter and added the date of "Sept. 16, 1920." And in the meantime the ribbon on the machine had been taken off and replaced by a green one. That's the solution of the mystery it is expected the state will prove, thereby nullifying any charges that the record was changed since the prosecution against Gov. Small was instituted.

State's Attorney C. Fred Mortimer of Sangamon county and his assistant, Edward Free, arrived in Chicago last night and went into conference with James H. Wilkinson, assistant attorney general, and Garfield Charles, who also are of counsel for the state. It was understood that the first three named will present different branches of the argument to Judge Edwards.

County Clerk Byers was reported on his way from Springfield accompanied by Judge Roger C. Chapin of the Probate court of Sangamon county, who, when the grand jury which indicted Gov. Small was drawn, was chairman of the board of supervisors. It is believed Judge Chapin will testify to the correctness of the record submitted to Judge Edwards.

KILLS TWELVE WITH RIFLE.
William Prager, 2026 Clifton avenue, was fined $10 and costs yesterday in the Chicago avenue court for shooting into his back yard. He had sniped off an even dozen before the police arrived.

Opposition to Bonus Bill Reaffirmed by Bankers

Washington, D. C., Dec. 14.—The administrative committee of the American Bankers' association at a meeting here today reaffirmed the opposition to the soldiers' bonus bill, declaring

"economy demands the elimination of all unnecessary expenditures which would further increase our national debt or the burden of taxation, including the soldiers' bonus bill, which would provide compensation without regard to disability." The resolution added "that for soldiers who are disabled we urge the fullest compensation and care."

O'CONNOR ESCAPE INQUIRY BRINGS NEW JAIL EXPOSE

DAVID STRAUSS.

Revelations of misdeeds in the county jail, extending to astonishing liberties between male prisoners and female visitors, were brought out yesterday in a further investigation of the escape of "Tommy" O'Connor and his confederates.

No news of O'Connor was received during the day. He is supposed to have outwitted all search. Preparations for his execution were perfected, but the probability of a hanging seemed remote. Members of the board of county commissioners, however, probed conduct in the jail so thoroughly that what they found seems likely to result in a most odorous exposure.

Love Flies a Way.
Life in the jail has not been all one dreary round of penitence, they found. Love had found its way within the walls of the castle and had lightened the burdens of the prisoners and spurred them to hopes of freedom via the escape method, they were told.

Assistant State's Attorney Charles J. Wharton discovered the "love mill" in the jail, the bundle cage. He communicated at once with Sheriff Peters, who said wholesale dismissals in the jail might result.

Two women, reliable witnesses Wharton called them, had described amazing things seen in the bundle cage, which, by the way, is a tiny, grated cell used as an anteroom to the cellrooms. One of the prisoners named was Clarence Sponagle, who broke both ankles as he jumped from the wall in Sunday's sensational jail delivery.

All Comforts of Home.
"Sponagle had all the conveniences of home during his incarceration," Wharton said. "He was frequently seen embracing while she was passing the bundle cage. She said Jailer Peter Lawrence had interrupted the amours of the Sponagles on one occasion because of her presence."

IN JAIL INQUIRY

Bettie Connell, suspected of operating wig-wag signal system from her room to county jail, but released after questioning.

Marie Tangley, also suspected of complicity in O'Connor escape.

Isolated in the bundle cage with his wife, Corn Sponagle. Other prisoners enjoyed the same jail hospitalities. Sponagle was about to be removed to Joliet to begin his ten year to life sentence. Dreading the loss of the loving consolation of his wife, he fostered the conspiracy to break jail.

"I have been told by one of these reputable witnesses that on one occasion she saw three couples in loving embrace while she was passing the bundle cage. She said Jailer Peter Lawrence had interrupted the amours of the Sponagles on one occasion because of her presence."

Women Are Released.
She had been released earlier in the day from the detective bureau. So had Betty Connell and Marie Tangley, all of whom were arrested in their rooms at 327 North Clark street. The police were told that from the rear window of this place a wig-wag code system of communication with the jail prisoners had been maintained.

Strauss Still Held.
Edward Strauss, first of the guards overpowered by O'Connor and his accomplices, for whom a writ of habeas corpus was sought, was held in the custody of the state's attorney until tomorrow morning. Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Wharton said he will have completed his investigation of Strauss' possible connection with the escape by that time.

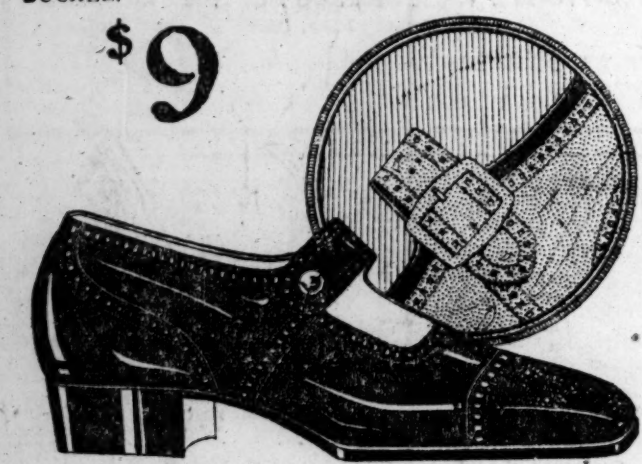

Attorney Frank A. McDonnell obtained the writ for Strauss. Strauss in court presented a pitiable figure. Apparently, he was a physical wreck. His nerves appeared shattered and he seemed unable to control his emotions. He pleaded with the judge to permit him to go to his home or to the county hospital. He protested his innocence of deliberately aiding in the escape.

"I was only on the fourth floor as an extra that day," he said. "The regular guard there was off. I don't know why they let O'Connor on that floor. It is not the customary thing to keep condemned murderers there. And it was known Friday that some one there had a revolver."

"I won't carry throat germs to those at home"

All day long—in the office or shop, in the cars, the crowded stores—you have been breathing in germs of sore throat, tonsillitis, influenza. In the warm crevices of throat and mouth they multiply rapidly.

The folks at home may be less able than you to resist these armies of ill-health and the home-coming kiss may bear the dread germs of disease.

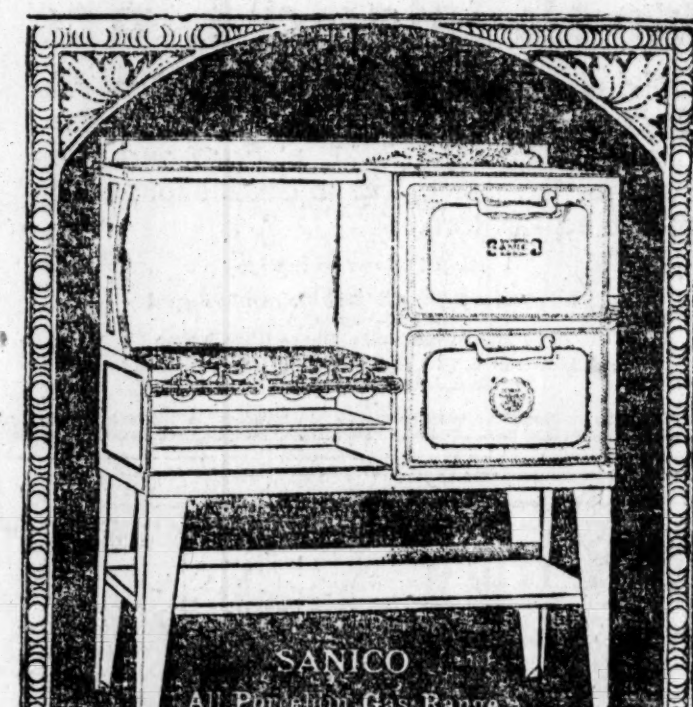

A pleasant—almost candy-like—Formamint dissolved in the mouth now and then during the day makes the mouth fluids antiseptic, keeps germ-growth within bounds, and forms a strong defence against disease.

If the throat is already sore, the frequent use of Formamint keeps the membranes bathed in this splendid antiseptic, allays inflammation, prevents new infection and gives the tissues a chance to heal.

Children are glad to use them and should do so freely, as crowded school-rooms are fruitful fields for the spread of throat infection.

Recommended by throat specialists, physicians, dentists and druggists.

CROSS EXAMINATION of a Chicago Manufacturer

Q. What proportion is your output of the total in your industry?

A. About 5%—50,000 units out of a total of a million.

Q. Where do you sell your goods?

A. In every state in the union. I have national distribution.

Q. Is it as easy to sell in any one part of the country as in any other?

A. No. In some places competition is exceptionally severe. In others, the cost of traveling salesmen is high and freight rates are a big handicap.

Q. Does every sale bring you the same net profit?

A. Naturally not, under the circumstances noted in answer to your previous question.

Q. In what part of the country does your net profit on sales run highest?

A. In and around Chicago.

Q. Do you make a special effort to get that high-profit business?

A. Yes, indeed! I travel more salesmen in this territory than any other—cover it much more intensively.

Q. What proportion of the business in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin do you get?

A. About 10%—20,000 units out of a total consumption of about 200,000.

Q. Those 20,000 units sold in the Chicago Territory probably yield as much net profit for you as the other 30,000 which you sell throughout the country?

A. More.

Q. Since your entire production is only 25% of the consumption of the Chicago Territory, why don't you concentrate in this market and sell the entire 50,000 units where they will make you the most money?

A. I am concentrating now.

Q. How do you advertise?

A. In national publications.

Q. Do you realize that if you concentrated your entire appropriation in the Chicago Territory you would have five times as much pressure here as you have had in the past?

A. I suppose so.

Q. Do you know that in addition to having five times as many dollars, each dollar will buy 4 to 5 times as much space in newspapers as it will in magazines?

A. Well, I never thought much about it.

Q. If you used newspapers in the Chicago territory, do you realize that in addition to more money for your best market, and more space for your money, you would be able to co-ordinate your advertising with your sales work and thereby multiply the efficiency of both?

A. It sounds good.

Q. Do you know that The Chicago Tribune has more circulation in the Chicago Territory alone than most of the magazines you use have in the entire United States—a circulation reaching one-fifth of the families in its territory?

A. So I understand.

Q. Do you know that The Chicago Tribune has spent hundreds of thousands of dollars working out methods for the systematic coordination of sales and advertising?

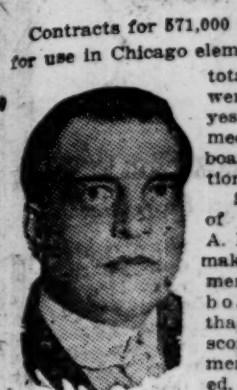

A. I would like to get right down to cases on this! What shall I do?

Write for The Tribune's 1921 Book of facts or ask for a Tribune man to call.

that helps make STRONG, MAGNETIC, FORCEFUL MEN, who make their over-mastering presence felt the moment they enter a room.

NUXATED IRON

contains the principal chemical constituents of active living nerve force, a form which most nearly resembles that in the brain and nerve cells of man. It also contains organic iron like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. Organic iron enriches the blood and plenty of rich red blood means more nerve force, so that Nuxated Iron not only feeds what might be termed artificial nerve force to the nerve cells, but it stimulates the blood to manufacture a greatly increased supply of new nerve force. If you are weak, nervous or run-down, get a bottle of Nuxated Iron today, and within two weeks' time you do not feel that it has increased your nerve force and made you feel better and stronger in every way, your money will be refunded. Sold by all druggists.

SCHOOL BOARD ORDERS 571,000 FREE TEXTBOOKS

Contracts for 571,000 free text books for use in Chicago elementary schools, totaling $214,630, were given out yesterday at the meeting of the board of education.

PETER A. MORTENSON.
Superintendent of Schools.

Superintendent of Schools Peter A. Mortenson, in making his recommendations to the board, declared that the books scoring highest in merit were selected, if the difference in price was not excessive. No member of the board, he said, had tried to influence the decision.

Choose Three Titles.
The text books chosen were: 215,000 copies of "Arithmetic Essentials," published by Lyons & Carnahan, costing $70,950; 226,000 "readers," for all grades from the primary to the fifth, published by the John Winston company, $92,420; 136,000 copies of "Hygiene and Health," published by Bobbs-Merrill, $51,260.

The proposed cost of the text books in English being too high, and the material covered already being supplied in other manuals, Supt. Mortenson did not recommend the adoption of new English books.

The superintendent's suggestions were unanimously accepted by the board. Meeting with him for the purpose of selecting the text books had been a committee of district superintendents, principals, and physicians.

Saving of $178,000.
The selection represents a saving of $178,000, as against the listed price of these books," Mr. Mortenson said. "The books will be in use in the schools by Feb. 1, 1922. Text books for about nine other courses will be chosen later."

A request from the engineer-custodians for a 15 per cent increase in pay was turned over to the finance committee.

HERE FOR OPERA

AMELITA GALLI-CURCI.

Let there be harmony, among opera stars and opera companies; see America first and last, and spend most of your sightseeing hours improving your voice, don't bob your hair unless the style is becoming to you; stay in America, if your husband is here—these were a few of the words of wisdom intoned last night at the Congress hotel by Amelita Galli-Curci, who, accompanied by her husband, Homer Samuels, arrived in Chicago yesterday for her first performance with the Chicago Opera company, in Traviata Tuesday.

Galli-Curci is scheduled for ten Chicago performances during her five weeks' stay, after which she will give a return engagement with the Metropolitan next year, but is not ready to make any statement regarding her connection with the Chicago company next season.

STRIKE RUMBLING HEARD AS RESULT OF RAIL DECISION

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Controversial fires began to burn yesterday over the question of where the "basic eight hour day" was left by the new rules promulgated by the railroad labor board for maintenance of way employees. While board members took the position that the eight hour principle had not been materially affected, announcement was made by union officials that in the New York area the maintenance workers were making strike talk.

Representatives of 30,000 track employees in the Manhattan region had asked for strike orders, according to William D. Roberts, grand vice president of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees and Railway Shop Laborers. He said the first protest had been entered by Pennsylvania railroad workers, followed by those on the Erie, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, and the rest of the lines operating within a twelve mile radius of New York.

Advised to Keep Men at Work.
Roberts declared that local chairman had been advised to keep their members at work awaiting action by the international officers. He stated orders had been sent out to forestall sporadic strikes. He took the ground that the principle of the eight hour day has been vitiated by the payment of straight rates for the ninth and tenth hours instead of time and a half rates. Both the labor board and the carriers take an opposite view.

Mr. Roberts declared that although the new rules reaffirm that eight hours shall constitute a day's work, the provision that the ninth and tenth hours shall be paid for at regular hourly rates instead of at time and a half knocks the eight hour day cold.

In the Chicago region the employees, at meetings which began last night, opened discussion of the new rules to discover their effect.

Hold Unions Reach Wrong Conclusion.
At the labor board rooms informal sentiment was that some unions have jumped to the wrong conclusion regarding the effect upon the eight hour day. Board members take the position that the eight hour day as a basic principle remains where it was, with this difference. The pay for the first two hours of overtime, namely the ninth and tenth, is to be at the regular rate instead of at time and a half. Although the punitive 50 per cent extra for these two hours is removed, they argue, the two hours nevertheless constitute actual overtime, regardless of whether paid for at the flat rate, at time and a half, at double time, or at triple time. The union argument is that the punitive time and a half rate is what makes the eight hour principle effective.

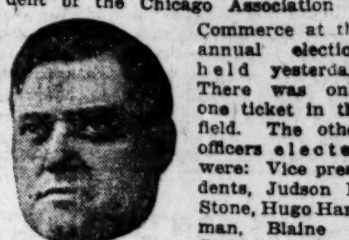

is not too abundant, section gangs on most roads work ten hours a day. Under the old rules the "basic eight hour day" meant eleven hours' pay for a ten hour work day.

Under the new rules, it is pointed out, ten hours' pay is given for ten hours' work. But the hourly wage schedule itself, it is surmised, is to be based on fair and reasonable earnings during eight hours, making the eight hour day the basis for wage rates.

VICE CLOSES ITS KNOWN DOORS TO BECOME FURTIVE

1912 Sees Exodus from "Districts."

This is the fourth of a series of articles on the reform in the vice situation which has been accomplished not only in Chicago, but in practically all American cities during the last dozen years. As one looks back upon what was thought only a short time ago to be the unavoidable evil of open prostitution, one is astounded at the great advance made, particularly since 1910. Although this advance is practically nation-wide in the United States, in Europe vice is tolerated to as great an extent as ever. The next article in this series will appear tomorrow.

BY JOHN KELLEY.
[For 33 years a police reporter in Chicago.]

Following State's Attorney Wayman's sensational raid on the south side in the fall of 1912 there was a general closing of houses of ill fame and massage parlors. The sign "Massage," in most instances, was merely a blind to mask vice. Proprietors of these places lived on the earnings of young girls whom they employed as "manicurists" and "masseuses."

Hundreds of women who were made "homeless" by the closing of vice resorts sought refuge in disreputable rooming houses and apartment buildings not overly particular about the social status of the tenants. Many others went to live in furnished rooms in respectable neighborhoods, where they posed as being married to "traveling men." Assignment hotels also received their quota of women thrown upon the street, who were allowed "privileges" in their rooms.

Mayor Couldn't See It.
Cognizance of the improved conditions was taken by Mayor Harrison, who in his annual message said:

"The breaking up of the segregated district in Chicago has not spread the social evil into the residential districts, as was feared would be the result."

The Committee of Fifteen, which succeeded the vice commission appointed by Mayor Busse, carried on the work for which it was organized, and in its first annual report gave an account of what it had accomplished. The report, dated May 1, 1914, said:

"The committee has directed its efforts chiefly to the work of destroying market places for the traffic in women. We have a list of 518 places where immorality was carried on more or less openly one year ago, or since, which are now closed or against which we can obtain no evidence."

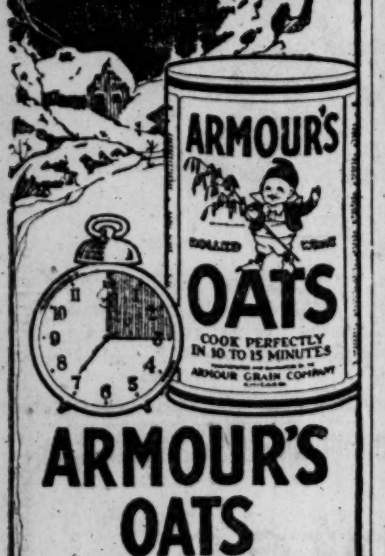

Publicity Their Weapon.
The chief weapon used in this warfare has been publicity. The publishing of the names of the owners of real estate in connection with the keepers of immoral resorts has had a fourfold effect: It has directly caused the dislodgment of hundreds of keepers; it has made it much harder for keepers of resorts to find safe abiding places; it has stimulated the administration and the police department to greater activity, and has thrown the vice interests of Chicago into a panic."

"The volume of the 'business' has been reduced materially, even if every prostitute has moved from the red light district to some other part of the city, which is far from the truth."

Vice Not Killed.
It would be absurd to say that vice has been obliterated, but some of the most notorious resorts are included in the more than 400 houses of ill fame, assignment hotels, and disorderly saloons which have been put out of business."

"It would be idle to say that the committee has directly closed all these places. To Chief of Police Gleason, Second Deputy Funkhouser, Moral Inspector Dannenberg, and Lieut. Edward Grady can be given much credit for the direct attack upon these immoral institutions."

EGG EXCHANGE FIGHTS FOR LIFE IN COURT TODAY

Injunction Pleas to Be Heard.

A fight to the finish over the question of allowing speculation in eggs on the Chicago Mercantile exchange will open in the Circuit court before Judge Rush this morning.

Attorney Mancha Bruggemeyer, counsel for the exchange, will file an answer to a bill of injunction granted Tuesday temporarily halting speculation and tying up trading operations on the board. He will ask that the injunction be dissolved pending a final investigation.

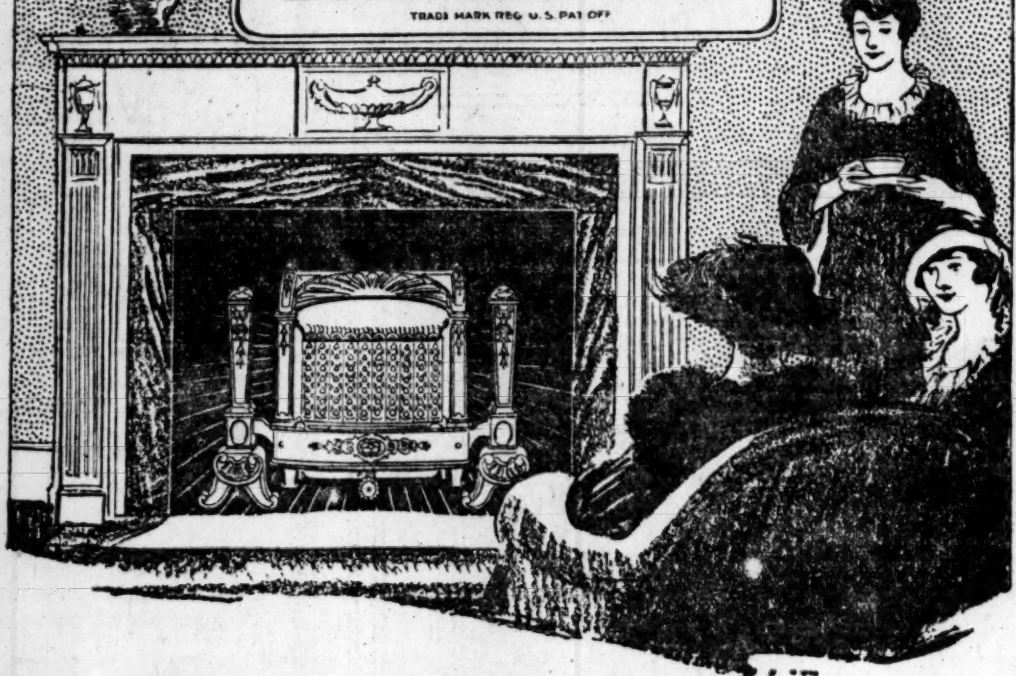

He will be opposed by Russell J. Poole, city food expert, and the law firm of Bamberger & Neumer, counsel for Barney Kauffman, who filed the petition for the injunction. Mr. Kauffman contends that the exchange, by allowing its members to deal in futures and to speculate, has forced egg prices up 15 cents in the last three weeks and allowed a corner in eggs to develop. He also charges the exchange fixes prices and has caused a loss to the public of thousands of dollars.

Secretary Denies Charges.
S. Edward Davis, executive secretary of the exchange, denied that a corner in eggs existed and characterized as ridiculous charges that members of the exchange fixed prices or gambled at the expense of the public. Mr. Poole declared, following the drop of 4 cents in the wholesale price of fresh eggs yesterday, that the filing of the bill was the direct cause. He said the drop represented a saving of $15,000 daily to consumers in Chicago.

Mr. Davis denied the injunction had anything to do with it.

DEMOCRATS ACT ON COALITION PROJECT TODAY

Democrats of Cook county meet in the "tiger room" at Hotel Sherman tomorrow afternoon for a free-for-all discussion of proposed coalition with the anti-Thompson-Lundin Republicans for the 1922 county campaign.

Those invited include: Members of the managing committee of the regular Democratic organization. All Democratic county officials and Democrats who have been in office within the last six years. All Democratic members of the city council.

Purpose of Meeting. The purpose of the gathering as announced by County Chairman James M. Daley, who issued the call, is to get definite expression of opinion as to whether there shall be further negotiations with the Republicans looking toward a harmonized county ticket in opposition to any Thompson-Lundin slate.

At a conference to be held this afternoon between the authorized spokesmen for the amalgamation that has been perfected by Republicans opposed to the city hall and Democrats representing all elements within the regular Democratic county organization, it is expected that there will be a definite agreement reached as to what may be accomplished by each side in tending to reach an agreement for the April primaries and the November election of 1922.

JAMES H. WILKERSON TO AID FIGHT AGAINST BUILDING WAGE WRIT

James H. Wilkerson has been retained as a member of counsel for the citizens' committee to enforce the Landis decision in connection with the effort of the carpenters' union to obtain an injunction against the committee.

The motion for the injunction was to have been made yesterday before Judge Denis E. Sullivan in the Superior court, but as Judge Sullivan was not holding court it was put over until today.

Attorney Dudley Taylor, representing the committee, said the court would be asked to set the matter for hearing at a later date.

upon the potential defeat of the city hall, as is to be agreed to today, is to be referred to the "tiger room" session of the Democrats tomorrow for ratification or rejection.

One radical element within the Democratic ranks proposes to go through with a fight Friday to reject any and all terms of Republican-Democratic coalition. Leaders of this contingent, in which City Clerk James T. Izoo is a recognized leader, said last night that a vote in the managing committee, when taken, will stand 17 to 14 against coalition, with four wards not voting for one reason or another. Another Democratic opinion is that at least three-quarters of the Democratic regulars will stand for 1922 coalition.

JAMES H. WILKERSON.

THROG AT DOCK BIDS GODSPEED AS FOCH SAILS

New York, Dec. 14.—[By the Associated Press.]—Ferdinand Foch and René Viviani, warrior and statesman, sailed back to France today with America's cheers following the liner Paris down the harbor.

There were cheers for the energetic little man in horizon blue, whose skill on the field of battle had humbled the proud eagle of Germany, and cheers for former Premier Viviani of France, who had played so conspicuous a rôle at the Washington conference for the limitation of armaments.

As for the marshal—who has had scarcely a moment's rest since he arrived here Oct. 28 to tour the United States and Canada as guest of the American Legion—he found that his last day in America was to be as busy as his first.

Diamond Brooch for Mme. Foch.

From his quarters he motored to city hall to bid farewell to Mayor Hyland. There, he received a parchment scroll conveying the freedom of the city and a diamond brooch for Mme. Foch.

From city hall the marshal motored to the dock and boarded the Paris at 11 o'clock, walking through a lane of soldiers of the 22d infantry from the pier to his flower-filled stateroom.

There, surrounded by Gen. Pershing, Admiral Hilary P. Jones, commander of the Atlantic fleet, and other high dignitaries of federal, state and municipal governments, he issued his farewell message to America, in which he said he was leaving a bit of his heart as his Christmas present to the nation.

The many souvenirs presented to him during his travels were on board. His wildcat occupied quarters in the His wildcat occupied quarters in the nagerie in Paris.

Urges Economic Commission. The appointment of an international economic commission with the power and instructions to "act in the quickest manner possible that is compatible with thoroughness," was suggested by Marshal Foch in a statement before he sailed for France today, in order that the reestablishment of industrial and economic peace may be facilitated.

"Let us rejoice over our great victory, but in that rejoicing let us not overlook the fact that serious matters confront us today. Let us not live in an imaginary paradise. The world today has serious problems confronting it and they must be faced in a serious manner."

PICKPOCKET GETS SIX MONTHS.

Paul Campbell, 3170 West Grand avenue, was sentenced to six months in the house of correction in the Chicago avenue court yesterday for sticking his hand in a man's pocket on a street car. There was only a hole in the pocket.

For Christmas The Gift of Gifts

SIXTY-SEVEN years ago, America produced a new watch made upon a new plan. A watch that created sensation all over the world. It quickly became the proud possession of great men and the still prouder possession of thousands of American citizens. It told the time upon battlefields written on the glorious page of our history. It ticked immortal moments in the pockets of those who heard Lincoln's voice at Gettysburg. It has passed through recent warfare in air, and on land and sea. It has followed the starry flag to the outmost ends of the earth. It has been given by father to son, and mother to daughter with joyful pride. It has added many great inventions to the science of horology. It is honored all over the world—and through it civilization pays tribute to American genius for doing things, not the better way, but, the best way.

This Christmas, Give "The Gift of Gifts", a Waltham Watch.

TRAFFIC JAM ON SOUTH SIDE HELD MOTORBUS BAR

Michigan Avenue Widen- ing Called First Need.

Traffic congestion on the south side can never be remedied, according to transportation experts of the Chicago Automobile Trade association, until the long delayed widening of South Michigan avenue is completed by the South Park board.

Attorneys for the association and representatives of all interests engaged in the old boulevard widening campaign interested themselves yesterday in the Illinois commerce commission hearing of the Chicago Motor Bus company's petition to operate busses from the loop over south side boulevards. They protested that until Michigan avenue is widened from Roosevelt road south to 33d street any addition to the present traffic would result in serious inconvenience and danger at every point along the Michigan avenue "bottle neck."

Revives Interest in Widening.
The hearing served to revive interest all along the line in the widening project. Business men on "automobile row" hastened to join the campaign. "It is absurd to think of adding an ounce to the weight of traffic in our famous bottle neck boulevard until the road is widened at least enough to carry the present tonnage," declared James Levy. "All day long, particularly now that the Christmas rush is on, the line of cars reaching from 29th street to the loop from the south is forced to crawl at a walking pace. In fact it is possible at times to walk and beat an automobile from almost any point on the 'narrows' to the loop."

A committee from the trade association appeared before the South Park board at its last meeting. Attorney Bodley of the automobile organization said, "and pointed out again the need for immediate action on the widening project. We were told that the board had considered this improvement but had been forced to carry it over until construction costs would not seem prohibitive.

"The trade association has called another meeting and will take the improvement matter again before the South Park board. A great many people on the south side want the bus line operated, but we fail to see how such operation is possible with traffic conditions as they are."

Secretary Nell of the South Park board explained that the commission have had the Michigan avenue widening project in mind for a long time and realized its importance in all Chicago traffic improvement plans.

Waiting Reduced Costs.

"The board has made no final decision on the improvement," he said. "It simply laid the matter over until costs came down. The new lighting system on South Michigan avenue has already set lamp posts back preparatory to street widening."

Officials of the bus company explained that following the state commerce commission hearing they expect to go before the South Park board and ask permission to operate under their old franchise.

The commerce commission continued the hearing yesterday.

STONE DRY AGE FOR N. Y. ON YULE AND NEW YEAR'S

New York, Dec. 14.—The most stringent prohibition New York has ever had will be enforced Christmas and New Year's, Ralph A. Day, state prohibition director, stated tonight.

"Every showhouse, grill, saloon, cabaret, restaurant, hotel, or any institution which sells liquor will be closed as a public nuisance," he said. "Your friends and my friends, who have been paying $20 a pint and getting poison, will no longer be subjected to that kind of robbery or murder."

Mr. Day said he was preparing a report to enlighten the public of the dangers of drinking what "is now sold for liquor."

STATE FAILS TO USE CONFESSION IN CHURCH CASE

Prosecutors Bartel and Stewart yesterday abruptly "rested" their case against Harvey W. Church, accused of the murder of Carl Ausmus and Bernard J. Daugherty, auto salesmen, without making any attempt to introduce the confessions of the defendant. After a conference, they decided, it was announced, that they believed they had presented enough circumstantial evidence to convict Church.

The defendant's attorneys, taken unaware, as they had prepared a voluminous defense against admission of the confessions, asked for a continuance until this morning, which was granted.

What You Do and What the Public Does

PUBLIC opinion and public action are quite different from personal opinion and personal action.

Here is an example: In Northern cities it is customary for men to begin to wear straw hats on May 15th and not before. It is customary to discard straw hats on September 15th. No matter what the weather is on September 16th, straw hats are not worn.

Now then, for what individuals say: Ask a thousand men about this and nearly every one will tell you that it is a silly custom, that he never pays the slightest attention to it, that he never follows any kind of a bellwether, and that he suits his apparel to the thermometer and not to the fool habits of a lot of clerks.

That's what the individuals will say.

But take a look at the streets. Nine out of ten men will be wearing straws on September 14th and about one in a hundred on September 16th. Or ask the hat stores what the public's habits are. They will tell you.

Individuals do not read long advertisements. The public does. Individuals do not insist upon advertised goods. The public does. Individuals are not thrifty. The public has money in the savings banks. Individuals with property talk a lot about their wills. A large percentage of the public dies intestate or with wills so old as to be worthless.

The word "public" means the people collectively. Collective thought and collective action is not the sum of what a number of individuals deliberately and consciously do. It is something else.

Public opinion is in a large measure the unconscious opinion of people, and public action is largely the undeliberate action of people.

This is especially true of the kind of favorable public opinion that advertising induces. You can't see it. Inquire around among your acquaintances and you won't always find it. Sometimes the only place you can find any trace of it is in the order books of the salesmen who are selling the advertised thing.

Once a month, or more frequently, we issue a publication called Batten's Wedge. Each issue is devoted to a single editorial on some phase of business. If you are a business executive and would like to receive copies, write us.

THE CHILDREN AND GEORGE WASHINGTON

More Entries in the Race for $11,650 in The Tribune's Prizes for School Children and Teachers.

Here are more of the essays by boys and girls entered in the George Washington prize contest being conducted by The Tribune. The contest closes on Washington's birthday, Feb. 22.

Doubt Cherry Tree Story.

George Washington was the father of the greatest and only country on the globe worth mentioning. He was born when our country was very young in history.

I suppose his mother loved him, and he loved her, just as my mother does me.

But I think that story about the cherry tree, and how he fessed up that he cut it down with his little hatchet, is all a bluff. All the fellows I know say they bet he lied out of it, just like other kids, and got whaled.

But anyway, I guess he must have been a pretty good boy to have grown up to be such a good man. I wish I could grow up to be as good, and great as he was.

The people of the colonies liked him so well and thought he was so great that they appointed him leader of all the army when we licked the British because they got too bossy. They had some "tea party," too. I wish I had been there to help.

The people were so proud of George that they made him the first President of the United States of America. He helped them write the declaration of independence and had the first "Fourth of July." So he became "first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen."

He is dead, but will always live in the memory of every American. I say, "Hurrah for George Washington!"

"Greatest of Good Men."

George Washington was born in Virginia on Feb. 22, 1731. He was the son of a well-to-do Englishman. He did not rise into the limelight until after Braddock's defeat. His courage and bravery at this engagement perhaps was his making. He rose rapidly from then on and was so intrenched in the hearts of his countrymen that he was appointed commander in chief of the continental army. He was at this time in himself the American union. John Adams said of him at that time, "The general is one of the most important characters of the world; upon him depend the liberties of America." It is the weakness of most men called great that they have fallen into the ignominious folly of wearing as their own robes of honor and glory lent them by their creator. It is to Washington's honor not to yield to this great temptation, but to remember that unto Cesar are to be rendered only those things which are Cesar's, but unto God those things which are God's. It was the memory of those lines that made him great and perhaps was his greatest asset in life.

Washington died on Dec. 14, 1799. France and Napoleon paid tribute to his memory, but not less touching than his old enemy, England.

The following lines, in my estimation, perhaps fit his memory the best: "The greatest of good men and the best of great men."

For Love of a New Nation.

Let us turn the pages of the past to the middle of the eighteenth century. Here the outstanding feature is the history of a man who, in the eyes of the Americans, is considered the greatest man who has ever lived on the American continent.

During his childhood days he was the leader and adviser of his schoolmates. The power of leadership won him great honors as a general during the revolutionary war and as a President of the United States.

Washington was loyal; he endured a storm of abuse such as lesser men could not have withstood for love of a new nation. Although dignified and reserved, he did his work in the bonds of companionship. He trusted his comrades in the great enterprises, even though they were not his personal friends; he neither sought nor occupied a lonely eminence of unshared glory.

Washington was preeminent among his contemporaries in natural endowments. He had athletic vigor and skill, steadiness of nerve, restraining intensity of passion, quiet sureness with which he grasped large ideas, undaunted courage which refused no necessary risks, and caution which refused no unnecessary ones. These, with the breadth of his intellect and his power to apply great thoughts and principles to everyday affairs, made him a great personality.

The memory of Washington must never be forgotten even in these days of advanced civilization. Let us on Feb. 22 give a blessing to him, the "father of our country."

January VANITY FAIR

Vanity Fair evokes the underlying humour in serious subjects, and points its wit with an element of critical thought. It sets a picture of a beautiful woman against a piece of beautiful writing, and emphasizes their relationship. It introduces Professor Santayana and Irving Berlin on the same page, and shows their comparative influence on our life.

In This Issue:

In and About the Theatre: Portraits of Billie Burke, Claire Dux, Doris Keane, and Laurette Taylor, forecasts by Kenneth Macgowan, and reviews by Heywood Brown.

The World of Art: Bronzes by Paul Man-ship, mural decorations by Senor Sert, a critique of two new Russian designers, and Paul Rosenfeld on Bruckner's music.

The World of Ideas: Essays by Joseph Hergesheimer, W. L. George, St. John Ervine, Aldous Huxley, Paul Gerdard, and verses by Owen Wister and John Weaver.

Literary Hors d'Oeuvres: Served by such chefs as Franz Molnar, Stephen Leacock, George S. Chappell, Donald Ogden Stewart, and Nancy Boyd.

Satirical Sketches: Fish on the World's Workers, Rockwell Kent on the Opera, St. John Ervine on "Love Me", and Préjean, of the Vie Parisienne, saying "Love my dog".

The Sphere of Recreation: Grantland Rice lays a few golf putts, Foster makes some leads in bridge, and George W. Sutton tours through the Automobile Show.

AND TALKING OF LOOKING AROUND, before you go to look around the Automobile Show, consult Vanity Fair's pages of the 1922 models to see what to look for at the show itself.

Then when you come back you can settle into your favourite arm-chair, light your cigar or open your box of candy, and remind yourself of it all again in the gallery of automobile pictures which Vanity Fair presents.

MOORE AND BUFF FIGHT FOR BANTY CROWN TONIGHT

TRIBUNE DECISIONS

Decisions of Tribune boxing representatives are:

At St. Louis—Johnny Noye beat Bud Purcell [12].

At Waterloo, Ia.—Fritz Knop knocked out Jack Smith [2]. Harold Jenkins knocked out Gus Paulson [1].

At Jacksonville, Fla.—Mel Cocoran beat Otto Walker [10]. Al Dale and Jack Zeller, new [10]. Leon Trainer beat Jerry Nelson [10]. Joe Cahill beat Leo Murray [10].

At Providence, R. I.—Pat McCarthy beat Bob Kelly [12].

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 14.—[Special.] Jimmy Buff of Jersey City, king of oomphweights, who will defend his title against Pal Moore of Chicago, before the National A. C. here to-morrow night, finished training to-day. The little champion finished preparation by skipping the rope, punching the bag, and shadow boxing.

Down in Chicago Moore did practically the same thing. The little boxer who got his start in Memphis by beating Kid Williams decisively when the latter was hometown champion arrived in this city tonight, accompanied by Manager Harry Hochstetler. Like the champion, Moore appears "in the pink" and realizes he has a golden opportunity to win the 118 pound title.

Buff Out to K. O. Pal.

Indications point to a great match. Buff is not the sort of champion who will relinquish his title without a battle. He realizes Moore is a worthy opponent. He knows of Pal's desire to win the title. He knows of Pal's desire to win the title. He knows of Pal's desire to win the title.

Moore Is Confident.

On the other hand, Moore is just as confident Buff will not come close to landing a stunning blow. In fact, there are a few Moore admirers who believe Pal has an outside chance to slip over the deep producing punch on the champion. While this is unlikely, the ones favor Moore to win the popular decision.

Weight In at 118 Pounds.

Indications are for a capacity crowd. Frank Hague, mayor of Jersey City, and Sandy Clements, well known fight men in the east, will head a party of fans from Buff's home town. The delegation will arrive tomorrow afternoon.

Moore and Buff will make weight tomorrow afternoon.

Moore and Buff will make weight tomorrow afternoon. They are scheduled to weigh 118 pounds at 3 o'clock. The champion will not scale more than 114 pounds, which was his weight on getting today's workout. Moore will not tip the beam heavier than 117 pounds. Walter Houlihan will referee the bout, which will be supported by three preliminaries.

Low Diamond will be the champion's chief adviser.

Larry Sutton, fireman of engine company No. 2, Jersey City, also will be in Buff's corner. Kid Howard will be Moore's chief second. Manager Harry Hochstetler and Barney Ferry will assist in Pal's corner. The first bout will start promptly at 8:30.

TRAIN SERVICE TO FIGHT.

Special trains for the Buff-Moore fight in Milwaukee will leave Chicago for the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul line this evening. Following the early dining car service and start their homeward journey half an hour after the main bout. Al Bloom will run a special over the North Shore electric. It will leave the Wells street terminal at 10 o'clock.

Chicago fltic fans can secure tickets at 143 North Clark street and 129 South Dearborn street.

Lafayette, Ind., Dec. 14.—[Special.] Purdue opened its basketball season tonight by defeating Franklin college, 43 to 22. The first half ended 24 to 8.

Lane Tech's heavyweight basketball team nosed out Quilley Prep, 21 to 19, in a fast game at the Lane gym yesterday. McAuley shot the winning basket for Lane in the final quarter after the score had been tied three times. In the curtain raiser, Quilley lights out Lane, 12 to 10. Heavy lineup:

ON OTHER BASKET FLOORS.

Lawrence Hall 936, 30; Dragons, 5. New Plaines, 30; Eckhart Park, 24. Morris Park Clippers, 45; Hamilton Park, 18.

ADOLPH BEAT RIVERSIDE.

West Side "Y" Adolphs defeated Riverside, 20 to 24, in a close basketball game yesterday. Larson and Oppen, opposites, featured with four and five baskets apiece.

WELCOME CALIFORNIA!

CALIFORNIA, by scheduling home and home football games with Illinois, has silenced those critics who maintained that the Bears sought a marked advantage in playing all sectional contests on the coast more than a month after the close of the middle western and eastern seasons.

In the Illinois-California series, the Illinois will have the advantage in the first game played at Urbana because of the long trip necessary by the coast eleven.

The following year the advantage will be reversed.

As we understand it, the games are to be played during the regular season, which is less of a handicap to a middle western team than when the game is played on New Year's day.

From time to time for many years California and Stanford have sent track, tennis, and baseball teams on long tours of the east and have not complained of the disadvantages.

The contest will be Notre Dame's initial appearance in the city this season and the team will take the floor with several of Coach Rockne's football stars in the lineup. Coach Kraft of Armour has been holding practice every night and has paid special attention to developing the offense, in which department the techs have shown a weakness.

The Notre Dame team will play Northwestern at Evanston Saturday in the Purple's sixth pre-conference game.

In the five games played Coach Evans' Purple tigers have piled up 158 to 58 points. Following the Notre Dame game the Purple will take a vacation until the Yale five is met at Patten gym Dec. 31.

MAROONS TO PLAY LEWIS I. TEAM IN GAME TONIGHT

Coach Nelson Norgren will send his University of Chicago basketball team against Lewis institute tonight at Bartlett gym at 8 o'clock. Lewis is coached by A. Bartky, a former Maroon track man.

Evanston and Senn Fives Split Double Header

Evanston and Senn divided a double header at the latter school yesterday, the suburban heavyweights winning, 20 to 6, and the lightweights losing, 8 to 6. Evanston displayed a smooth, well balanced attack and tight defense in the major contest. Lineup:

EVANSTON (20): Fleetwood, 2; Prior, 2; Bell, 2; Lundquist, 1; McConlin, 2; Holmberg, 2; Friend, 1. SENN (8):

KIECKHEFER-LAYTON OPEN MATCH TONIGHT

BY JOE DAVIS.

Champion Augie Kieckhefer and John Layton of Sedalia, Mo., will start play at Rectal Hall tonight at 8 o'clock for the national three-cushion championship.

The match under the revised terms, calls for 180 points, 60 being played each night.

The prize is the Brunswick championship emblem, a stake of $500, and the whole of the net game receipts, while the titleholder gets a salary of $200 a month.

Layton gained fame as a pocket billiard player by winning the championship from Elmer Blankenship, and losing it to Frank Taberski. He won the three-cushion championship in the tournament played in Chicago in 1920, but finished second to Kieckhefer in this year's event at Pittsburgh. He exercised his right to challenge.

Kieckhefer has held the title twice, winning seven straight matches against challengers on the first occasion.

The principals rank as two of the greatest players in the history of the angle game, and already the house is practically sold out. The box office at Rectal Hall will open at 10 o'clock this morning, with seats for the first and second night's play.

REALTY BOARD'S OFFER REVEALS EXPERTS' PROFIT

Proposes to Do the Work
at 1-35 of Price Paid.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The chances of the REALTY BOARD, through its suits, recovering for the taxpayers the enormous fees paid city experts, were substantially increased yesterday. The Chicago real estate board, through a "duly appointed and authorized committee," has proposed to do the work at 1-35 of price paid.

PAUL C. LOEWER, "tee," said indirectly that the city administration paid thirty-four times too much for the services of the experts. The board officially offered to do the work for one-thirtieth of what the city paid. The board's proposal contemplates a compensation of one-tenth of 1 per cent for appraising both land and buildings, while the city paid 4 per cent for appraising buildings and 3 per cent for land valuations.

Compared with "Expert" Prices.

From another angle, the board's proposal means that it would have charged $139,085.67 for doing the work for which the city's five experts received the following:

Expert, kind—	Fee paid.
Frank H. Moore, building.....	$460,418.66
John A. Lynch, building.....	$44,108.18
John A. Morgan, real estate.....	$77,426.15
Edward C. Walker, Jr., real estate.....	$80,326.41
Edward H. Lyons, real estate.....	$24,748.66

That comparison may sound like the board were making an exceedingly low offer, but that tells only a trifle over half the story. The board's proposal means that the board would have charged only $139,085.67 for doing all the work on the proposed street improvements on which President Fairbank of the board of local improvements contemplated paying these same experts a total of $4,891,526.

But the exposure by Ald. Thomas O. Wallace—for which he was removed from the council finance committee by the trustees of the Thompson-Lundin organization—prevented the total payment.

What Vast Sum Means.

The $4,891,526 represents 2 per cent for two building experts on $71,182 worth of buildings and 1 per cent for three real estate experts on $67,184,083 worth of land. The $139,085 represents one-tenth of 1 per cent on the value of both land and buildings.

The Chicago Real Estate board offered to the aldermanic committee on reports, Ald. Schwartz, Guernsey, and Woodhull. They will confer Friday afternoon with the three engineering societies and the two organizations of architects to ascertain what they will do for the good of Chicago.

Offer of Realty Board.

The Chicago Real Estate board's offer was signed by Callistus S. Ennis, Paul C. Loewer, Charles O. Goss, and W. D. Cousin. They say that "for the purpose of serving the municipality of Chicago, we make the following proposal."

It says:

"Where there are many valuations on properties within the same plan and contiguous, the charge will be $1 per $1000 of valuation. If there must be an appraisal of part of the property taken for public purposes and appraisal of the damage to the remainder the same charge will be made."

"This includes both land and buildings," said Mr. Ennis last night.

Where the valuation is less than $1000 the board asks one-half of 1 per cent. Between $1000 and $10,000 the fee will be one-fifth of 1 per cent, and above that amount one-tenth of 1 per cent.

These fees do not include clerical hire and building plans. These, of course, will add something to the total cost of the appraisal.

This committee on experts expects to make a report to the city make provision in its annual appropriation bill for paying expert fees on the proposed low basis. The aldermen are considering whether they shall ask the city council to pass an ordinance providing the rate of compensation before the budget is passed. That would force Mayor William Hale Thompson to approve or veto the rates.

Justice Olson Asks Six
More Municipal Judges

An increase in the number of Municipal judges from thirty-one to thirty-six, and an enlargement of the personnel of the psychopathic laboratory was recommended yesterday by Chief Justice Olson, appearing before the aldermanic committee on the 1922 city budget. Interest was shown in the request for more judges in view of the probable coalition of anti-city hall Republicans and Democrats at 1922 elections. An increase in the number of judges was declared to enhance the probability of coalition.

HERE AND THERE IN THE THEATERS

BY SHEPPARD BUTLER.

WILLIAM COLLIER, playwright, has his name on the program at the Palace this week, appearing as co-author of a skit called "Interruptions," which serves as a reason for taking twenty minutes of your time.

In addition to being the chief performer of the interlude, Fox was Collier's collaborator in writing it. Under such auspices you expect something lively and not too profound, and this is approximately what you get.

Having nothing to conceal, Fox announces his recipe at the start (Atwell photo.)

"Smart fooling, songs, and snappy sayings," he proceeds to live up to it. He is talkative, self-confident and possessed of an infectious smile; chatting blithely of this and that, he entertains you painlessly, and is gone before you have a chance to wonder what it is all about. Present with him is Miss Beatrice Curtis, who is much prettier than her picture herewith, and who acts as if some one had just told her she is adorable. Which, as a matter of fact, she is.

Also at the Palace are:

Rolle's Revue—Polite entertainment by a lot of people, each of whom plays a horn or something. One is an old-fashioned cornetist with a grand manner and a way of making his high notes crackle. Great stuff on the Chautauque circuits.

George Ford and Flo Cunningham—In songs, dances, and droll patter. Frank Van Hoven—"The dippy and the magician." He performs to a running accompaniment of rapid-fire nonsense and achieves his climax in the spectacle of a small boy assistant trying to hold his cap, a red balloon, three plates, and a cake of ice. The man behind him laughed so hard he had to go out.

Sarah Padden—With some others in "The Charwoman," a play about crime and a mother who has seen better days. Rather maudlin, I thought, but Miss Padden's macabre characterization seemed to please the customers.

Herschel Henle—With "Madame Skiddikind," in amiable travesty of the pianists and prime donne.

An interesting experiment in the establishment of a children's theater in Chicago will be launched at the Playhouse Saturday morning, when Miss Alice Gerstenberg will restore to the stage her footlight version of "Alice in Wonderland." This is the delightful bit of a play which we saw in 1915, with Miss Vivian Tobin in the title role.

Members of the Junior league will be the actors this time, and Eric De Lamar's incidental music will be used as an accompaniment. Seven performances on consecutive Saturdays are planned, each to begin at 10:30 a. m.

STOCKYARDS
WORKERS NAME
PEACE TERMS

Declaring that striking packing house employees are standing firm against the recent wage reduction and denying the statements of the five large packers that plant operations are nearly normal, Dennis Lane, secretary-treasurer of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workers' union, said last night that if the strike lasts a contest of endurance it will run for months.

Secretary of Labor Davis, in Chicago yesterday on his return to Washington from Milwaukee, settled the strike leaders for a statement of their side of the issue. In complying with the request the union officials named two conditions upon which they said the walkout could be settled.

They were that the packers rescind the wage reduction put into effect Nov. 28 and agree to submit the question of wage reduction to arbitration and restore the former wage scale pending arbitration proceedings.

"We have nothing to arbitrate. Our dealings are with our own employees and it would be a breach of faith with them for us to discuss the situation with outsiders," declared officials of Armour & Co.

Kings' Fight Over Queen's Pig Is Settled—Almost

Tene Bimbo and Peter Bimbo, rival gypsy kings, settled their differences yesterday in the Chicago avenue court and were told to move out of the district. The trouble started several weeks ago over a roast pig cooked by Queen Julia. In spite of the royal pretensions, however, Mary Tuny, a follower of King Tene, assaulted a woman from King Bimbo's outfit in the corridor and was booked for disorderly conduct.

BRENTANO MAKES APPLICATION FOR $6,000 PENSION

Second Jurist to Seek 1919 Law's Benefit.

Former Judge Theodore Brentano

has applied for pension of $6,000 a year. His formal petition, filed Monday with County Clerk Robert M. Switzer, was yesterday referred to Controller William J. Graham.

The law authorizes a pension of half pay to judges who have served for twenty-four years and who are over 65 years of age. This statute became effective July 1, 1919, and at present but one other ex-judge in northern Illinois, Charles H. Donnelly of Woodstock, has benefited thereby.

On Bench Thirty-One Years.

Brentano's petition sets forth that he has been a judge of the Superior court of Cook county for thirty-one consecutive years, having been re-elected five times for six year terms, and that he is 67 years of age. His last term expired on Dec. 6.

Of the $6,000, the state will pay $2,500 and Cook county's share will be $3,500. This is because of the pro-rating of Circuit and Superior judges' salaries due to the increases given Cook county jurists. The state formerly paid the entire $6,500 salary paid before the increase, but on authorizing increases, declared they must be paid by the county.

Salary Is $12,000.

Brentano was the only judge elected in 1915 to come in under the $12,000 yearly pay, which became law just after the election. As his term did not commence until December, although elected in June, he was declared eligible. The other judges elected at the same time deferred being sworn in until after July 1, 1915. The county refused to pay them more than $10,000. Some sued for the difference but the suits were lost.

Brentano was offered a place on the coalition ticket last summer. He declined to run on anything but a straight Republican platform. He accepted renomination from the Lundin-Thompson controlled county committee and was defeated.

Reports have been current that he was to be offered the post of ambassador to Austria. His application for the pension is taken by politicians as an indication that he does not believe the post will now be tendered him.

U. OF C. DOCTOR
DISCOVERS CURE
FOR ODD DISEASE

A cure for para thyroid tetany, which results in the death of a person in a few days if the para thyroid glands in the neck are removed, is claimed in the discovery of a new treatment by Dr. Arno B. Luckhardt of the physiology department of the University of Chicago.

Dr. Luckhardt has removed the glands from the neck of a dog which had been kept alive for fifty-seven days and still appears vigorous as the result of medical injections.

When these four tiny glands in the neck do not function properly, it results in tremblings over the entire body and the loss of control of the jaw muscles. Dr. Luckhardt believes his treatment will cure this condition, which is often termed "cobblers' disease."

BUREAU REVEALS RISING TIDE OF UNEMPLOYMENT

A seasonal slump in employment in November is indicated by the figures of the Illinois free employment office, issued yesterday. In the state as a whole, November saw 207 persons registered for every 100 jobs listed with the bureau. In October 168 persons sought every 100 jobs. The figures reflect the situation as reported last week by the federal employment service. Although November receded from October, still it was in advance of August, when 211 persons registered for every 100 jobs listed.

In Chicago the tables show 247 applicants to every 100 jobs listed in November. In August the ratio was 250 to 100, and in October it stood 202 to 100. "The barometer indicates a rising tide of unemployment," says the report.

SOMEBODY IS ALWAYS TAKING THE JOY OUT OF LIFE

HER PHANTOM LOVER

By ELIZABETH YORK MILLER

Doria Westhaven kills her husband's cousin, Andrew Mandell, who he tries to make her husband's cousin, Andrew Mandell, assumes the dead man's name and goes to prison in Nevada to the "blatant Westhaven. Ten years later, pardoned, he returns to England as "Donald Barry."

Crystal Marwood, niece of Martin Drake, manager of the Westhaven estate, and Doria for the match. Doria learns that her father was killed by the man she killed, the slain Mandell, and that she is the legal Lord Westhaven.

THE WIDOW'S PROOFS DISAPPEAR.

"Andrew's a good lad," Mrs. Crouch said, half wistful, half defiant.

"I am sure no one will deny that."

"Mr. Barry thinks no end of him."

"Yes, I'm told he will have a future at Westhaven's if he behaves himself," Drake replied.

"Ah, I hope so! But you never know what's going to happen with young folk, sir. Andrew's a rare one for getting into scrapes. After the fire, when the Lord sent him back to me, I'm prepared for anything. And now, I'll tell you, sir. He gets his high spirits from his father."

Drake's eyes fell. She was frank enough—almost too frank—so that he scarcely knew what he apprehended.

"I was hoping that in some way you might be able to help me," Mrs. Crouch went on. "I'll tell you the truth, my husband, though as much a gentleman born as you, sir, was a bit of a scamp. He ran away and left us when Andrew was a baby."

"That was twenty years ago. Andrew is named for him—Andrew M. Crouch—although I never knew what the M. stood for. I don't know if he's dead or not, and I'd like to know. The truth is, sir, I want to marry again. Then I'd be out of Andrew's way and off his mind, so to speak."

"The other day I found something in a newspaper that frightened me. At first I thought I couldn't stand it to anybody, but I've changed my mind. There was a man named Andrew Crouch who shot poor Lord Westhaven's father. If it should be the same one! But her ladyship said the photographs, and if anybody'd know, it would be her, wouldn't it?"

"She shows them to me," Drake said, abruptly, licking his lips, which had become very dry.

"Thank you, sir. There's my wedding lines and a lot of things I'd like you to look at. Lady Westhaven had a queer idea at first that maybe I hadn't been properly married to Andrew's father. I shouldn't like you to think that, sir. I came to Rockport after he left us, because he used to talk a lot of some relatives of his who lived here."

By this time she had risen and was unlocking the drawer of the tallboy.

"That's queer. I must have put it in another drawer," she muttered.

One after another she opened them and then came back to the first.

"I know it was here!" She turned and faced Drake, breathing heavily.

"My papers and things were in a black box, sir. It had a wreath of forget-me-nots on the lid. I always kept it locked in this drawer, and the key under the china dog. It's gone. There's been nobody here except her ladyship this afternoon. The box was there this morning. I haven't left the place all day."

She sank down, a blank expression in her eyes.

Drake looked at her very hard. She was not acting. He almost wished she were.

He remembered his conversation with Doria that morning. Doria had not wanted him to interview Mrs. Crouch. Yes, decidedly, there had been something behind it all.

HUNT IS STARTED FOR $30,000,000 TRACTION FUND

Alderman Wants to Know
'How Much and Where.'

The city council started out yesterday to find out what has become of the municipal traction fund, what it is composed of, and whether, if desired for subway construction, its "book value" could be depended upon not to shrink.

Ald. Thomas O. Wallace, who exposed the expert fee scandal, introduced the resolution empowering the council to make a recommendation to the city council as to the advisability of repaying an ordinance passed March 14, 1918, permitting the pooling of the moneys in the traction, special, and sinking funds for the purpose of "investment."

Investigate Into Investments.

Ald. Wallace's resolution empowers the committee to do two things, as follows:

Investigate the manner in which the traction fund is invested and report to the city council, and

Make a recommendation to the city council as to the advisability of repaying an ordinance passed March 14, 1918, permitting the pooling of the moneys in the traction, special, and sinking funds for the purpose of "investment."

It was under cover of this ordinance, passed at the request of the Lundin-Thompson city administration, that the traction fund was mixed with other funds in a "pool" from which the administration has borrowed to pay running expenses and for other purposes leaving various securities as security.

As a result of these frequent borrowings the "pool," which now amounts "on paper" to $53,277,153.10, contains only $16,421,253.10 of cash. The remainder of the $53,277,153.10 is represented by securities, the face value of which is given as $36,855,900, the difference between the cash on hand and the total of the "pool."

No One Seems to Know.

"Because these funds have been pooled no clerk, or city official for that matter, can find out what makes up the traction fund," Ald. Wallace said.

"Even the deputy city controller could not tell me in what the traction fund is invested," The local transportation committee could not find out whether these bonds were put in the fund at par or at their market value.

"I am informed they went in at their value, if so, we may find, when we come to the traction fund, it has shrunk 10 or 15 per cent."

But a blacker aspect of the situation, Ald. Wallace pointed out, is that $7,200,000 of the "pool" has been used to buy almost all of the $8,000,000 issue of city "deficit" bonds. The purchase was made at par. These are the bonds which the city was unable to sell a month ago because Controller George F. Harding could not supply an opinion from Wood & Oakley, experts on securities, as to their validity.

Apparent Shortage in Fund.

"If the traction fund were needed today, as the situation stands, it appears that it would be several millions short," Ald. Wallace declared.

The books of City Treasurer Smith, indicate that for the purpose of procuring the interest earned on investments the purchase of the $7,200,000 worth of deficit bonds is charged directly to the traction fund. The two entries on this point are:

General corporate 5 per cent bonds; investment of sinking fund for deposits of Chicago City Railway company.....$2,400,000

General corporate 5 per cent bonds; investment of sinking fund for deposits of Chicago City Railway company.....4,800,000

SMALL TRADING IN WHEAT SENDS ALL PRICES DOWN

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Trade in wheat was not large and mainly of a local character and with moderate selling the undertone was heavy and the close well toward the bottom with net losses of 10 1/4¢ on the old crop deliveries and 5¢ on the July. Corn sold down to 46¢ for December and closed at the bottom with losses of 1/4¢, while oats were 1/4¢ lower and rye off 10 1/4¢.

Movement of wheat prices was erratic within a range of 1/4¢ to 1/2¢, the latter on December, which went to a wider discount under the May, closing 3/4¢ under the deferred deliveries as the result of a slow cash demand and sales of 150,000 bu to go to store. The strength in the July was due to further unfavorable crop reports from Oklahoma, Kansas, and Nebraska, and the returns from the latter state are now almost as serious as those from parts of Kansas due to drought.

Pressure Offers Buys. Buys were short lived, as on all the upturns there was increased pressure. Strength in Winnipeg led to free buying by shorts and the advance to the high point of the day, but it lost its influence later, although Winnipeg December closed at 4/8¢ under Chicago, against 5/8¢ under the previous day.

Reports that railroads were offering Manitoba abroad at 5¢ under a replacement basis were responsible for the decline to the inside figures.

Millers demand for cash wheat showed little improvement and sample values in oil markets were lower, with premiums at Minneapolis off 1/2¢. Winnipeg, however, was 1/4¢ higher, due to a good class of buying, and the Pacific coast was bidding strongly for grain in the interior.

Claims that Liverpool wheat was demoralized by pressure of Argentine grain were not borne out by cables, as futures there closed 1/4¢ higher, and stocks of hard winters and Manitoba on spot were reported as exhausted. Buenos Aires opened unchanged. Local receipts were 13 cars.

Corn Closes at Bottom. December corn was under pressure from the start and closed at the bottom, within 1/4¢ of the inside figures of the season.

Oats again failed to fully reflect the decline in corn and closed only fractionally lower.

Seaboard exporters were after rye in the west and local handlers sold 35,000 bu. Futures were affected by the action of wheat, but there was fair buying by houses with eastern interests, and the seaboard reported a good export demand.

Provisions Average Lower. Provisions were easier under a little pressure from packers and averaged lower, closing with net losses of 60 1/2¢ on lard and unchanged to 5¢ lower on ribs. There was a little buying of lard credited to eastern interests. Cash trade was quiet and fresh meats were offered rather freely at lower prices. The effect of higher hog prices was short lived, as receipts are liberal. Prices follow:

BUSINESS WORLD

IS AWAKING UP TO RUSH OF EVENTS

BY O. A. MATHER.

The rush of events of world wide importance in the last fortnight has begun to exert an impression on the international economic situation. So swift has been this march of events that financiers and economists only now are beginning to sense the future effects.

The mutually avowed purposes of the great powers to preserve world peace and their agreement to limit armaments, at least to some degree, the economic stability of nations defeated in the war, the prospects of less bitter rivalry and territorial aggrandizement, and more cordial relations, all these are inspiring a more optimistic view of the future than has been evident since the war.

Expect Industrial Resumption.

There now is a general expectation that the events will bring about a resumption of industrial activities in most sections of the world where idleness and business depression have prevailed. Especially is it believed that this country will be emphasized in this recovery, inasmuch as we will be called on to furnish the basic materials for industrial activity in Europe.

This belief would seem to have good basis in the recent changes in Europe. Our exports have been drained of gold to meet purchases of American goods during the war and in the following period when our foreign trade was disorganized and our industries at a low ebb.

With the recovery of Europe's purchasing power through appreciation of her currencies a considerable improvement in international commerce is expected. Our exports can be financed to larger amounts and Europe can obtain needed raw materials for a far better state than since the world war.

Cattle Industry Improves.

Yesterday offered several items of comparative news. Improvement in the American cattle industry was betokened by a statement that the Black River Cattle Company, which is the largest of the banking pool formed last summer to make loans at a critical period, has ceased functioning. This pool has been successful, but now will make new loans as the purpose now is being accomplished by the Federal Farm Finance Corporation.

The Northern Pacific railroad paid off a loan of $5,000,000 made by the government last year, although the loan was not mature for four years. At the same time the railroad asked permission to use $10,000,000 in bonds, of which $5,000,000 would be used in paying government loans, $5,000,000 for equipment, $10,000,000 for redemption of bonds, and the balance of about $7,000,000 to be held for proposed expenditures next year, estimated at $10,000,000. The new bonds would bear 5% per cent interest and mature not later than 1925.

The iron and steel industry appears to be making time until the turn of the year, according to the mid-week reviews. Producers are inclined to shade prices to improve their cash position, but consumers are limiting purchases to hold inventories low.

These influences have created fresh uncertainties as to prices at which the larger business looked for in the new year. The belief is widespread that reductions in prices will come early in the new year. Some contraction in mill operations is seen.

The miscellaneous flow of small items is surprisingly well maintained. The Iron Trade Review says: "Glowing news in the composite market average of iron and steel products confirms the week's average is $23.83, or 10% per cent above figures of December, 1921."

Wilson & Co.
L. D. R.—The $10,125,000 Wilson & Co., Inc., ten years convertible 7½ per cent bonds are a direct obligation of the company with the stipulation that no new mortgages may be created without securing these bonds equally. There is also a provision that the company will not at any time pay dividends on its common stock if thereby combined current assets of the company and subsidiaries be reduced to less than their total indebtedness other than bonds in sinking funds. This issue is to reduce floating debt. The outstanding funded debt of the company is $10,125,000, of which about $5,000,000 is in form of bonds. Fixed property is valued at nearly $32,000,000, as of Sept. 3, 1921; current assets are estimated at about $62,000,000, of which about $25,000,000 is in form of cash. There was a deficit of $940,550 after interest charges, and it is stated there will be a larger deficit for 1921. These bonds are convertible into common stock at $50 a share. The dividend on this stock was discontinued last June and it is selling around 23 at present. We rate these bonds as an investment suitable for a business man's spare funds, but not for savings.

GRIFFIN FAVORS M'DOUGAL AS NEW PRESIDENT OF PIT

Joseph P. Griffin, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, announced positively yesterday that he will not be a candidate for reelection next year. He has had three years and is willing to step aside. He favors Robert McDougal as his successor. The latter was asked by a committee of three members to make the race and has taken it under advisement, promising to give a reply on Friday. Those close to him intimate he will accept. It is expected that James J. Fongas, who has been vice president the last two years, will be put up for another year, and it is understood that Theodore E. Cunningham, now vice president, will resign. This will make two vice presidents to be elected instead of the usual one. Samuel P. Arnot will be put up as a running mate for Mr. McDougal in case he decides to run. In case Mr. McDougal declines to run Mr. Arnot will be asked to head the ticket. Louis C. Browne and Joseph F. Lamy, who retire from the directory in January, are also talked of for the vice presidency. A petition asking Emil Garneau to run for director is expected to start today. The election will be held on Monday, Jan. 2. James A. White of Lamson Bros. & Co. is being talked of for the directory.

FOUNDED 1862 HARVEY FISK & SONS Incorporated Investment Bonds

GODCHAUX SUGARS, Inc., has been a factor in the American sugar industry since its founding in 1868.

During 53 years of able, conservative management by the same family the Company has grown to a point where its assets total over $14,000,000 and its earning capacity has been evidenced by a seventeen year annual average of $528,884.

For a period of 15 months, commencing in January 1920, the sugar industry experienced the most drastic decline in the market for its product that any industry has ever been called on to contend with.

Throughout this time the Company made an operating profit of about $1,000,000 and suffered losses from inventory depreciation amounting to $2,500,000.

With this storm weathered the Company finds itself with the following property:

37,300 acres of sugar cane plantation lands (17,000 acres under cultivation).

Three sugar factories with a daily grinding capacity of 5,500 TONS of sugar cane.

Two sugar refineries with an aggregate daily capacity of 1,400,000 lbs. of refined sugar.

63.82 miles of railroad, 16 locomotives and 790 cane cars.

Current assets of $4,305,663.

GODCHAUX SUGARS, Inc., has mortgaged the fixed assets detailed above, which the American Appraisal Company has certified have a replacement value of $9,387,399, for $3,000,000 issued in the form of a 20 year closed first mortgage bond bearing 7½% interest.

Having in mind the Company's history of half a century of success, its position in a great staple food industry, the vitality with which it has withstood a protracted period of deflation, the high percentage of fixed assets to bonds, the possession of ample quick assets and the significant fact that in the first six months of 1921 the Company's earnings covered the year's bond interest more than twice—all these features enable us to recommend these bonds for investment at Charlotte, the County Seat of Mecklenburg County, is located in the agricultural and manufacturing center of North Carolina on the main line of the Southern Railway. The city is the home of one of the largest hydro electric power plants in the country, which furnishes light and power to 165 manufacturing plants within the city limits and to 737 textile mills located in the surrounding country. Due to its strategic geographical location, its fine railroad facilities and its proximity to water traffic, Charlotte commands the distribution of a large part of the products of the surrounding country. The city has excellent banking facilities, having eight banks and trust companies with combined deposits in excess of $20,500,000.

These bonds are issued for water, sewer and street improvements and are direct general obligations of the City of Charlotte, payable principal and interest from an unlimited tax on all the property therein.

Double Your Money By Investing in a Government Bond

THE 4% External Sterling Bonds of the U. S. of Brazil, now selling at $443 per £200 Bond, have a value at maturity, with exchange at par, of $973.30, or over twice the present cost of each bond.

The investor will secure over 7% on his investment with English exchange at present figures, and any substantial advance in exchange will increase both the income return and the value of the bonds.

This investment is backed by the full faith and credit of the United States of Brazil, a country with 30,000,000 inhabitants and enormous natural resources.
